Lewis Takes Over Aberdeen Central Wrestling Program

ABERDEEN — Shawn Lewis has been named the new head wrestling coach at Aberdeen Central, according to a report by the Aberdeen American News.

Lewis has been teaching science and assisting with both varsity wrestling and football for the Golden Eagles. He is a graduate of Bon Homme High School in Tyndall.

In high school, Lewis was a multiple place-winner in the State B wrestling tournament and was an academic all-state. Lewis is a graduate of Northern State where he was a two-year captain for the Wolves wrestling team and was an academic All-American.

Lewis taught and coached both wrestling and football at Elk Point-Jefferson before going to Aberdeen Central. Lewis and wife Jessica have two children, Trayton and Abbigail.

Lewis will replace Toby Bryant, who recently was named the new activities director for West Central.

NATIONAL DIGEST

NCAA: Eight Violations In Connecticut Men's Basketball Program

STORRS, Conn. (AP) — Connecticut coach Jim Calhoun and the men's basketball program he took from obscurity to national titles have been accused of eight major NCAA infractions, with investigators citing hundreds of improper calls and texts from UConn staff to recruits.

The school released a notice from the NCAA on Friday that lays out the allegations against the Hall-of-Fame coach, his staff and the school. Besides the calls and texts, the accusations include giving recruits improper benefits and improperly distributing free tickets to high school coaches and others. Calhoun is cited for failing to promote an atmosphere of compliance.

"It's not exactly, certainly anywhere near the high point of my career, as a matter of fact it's certainly one of the lowest points at any time that you are accused of doing something," said Calhoun, who has led the Huskies since 1986 and taken them to the Final Four three times. "It's a very serious matter."

Athletic director Jeff Hathaway offered support for Calhoun and defended the university.

"Let me be clear," he said. "The University of Connecticut is fully committed to NCAA rules compliance and takes this matter very seriously. With regard to coach Calhoun, he personally has a long-standing demonstrated commitment to NCAA rules compliance."

The allegations come at the end of a 15-month investigation into the recruiting of former player Nate Miles, who was expelled from UConn in October 2008 without ever playing a game for the Huskies. He was charged with violating a restraining order in a case involving a woman who claimed he assaulted her.

The NCAA alleges 160 impermissible telephone calls and at least 191 impermissible text messages between recruits and coaches, including assistants Beau Archibald, Patrick Sellers, Andre LeFler, associate head coach George Blaney, and then-assistant Tom Moore, who is now the head coach at Quinnipiac. Moore did not immediately return messages seeking comment.

UConn is to appear before the governing body on Oct. 15 to respond. Attorney Rick Evrard, an outside counsel who advises UConn on NCAA-related matters, said the school likely will spend the next three months reviewing the allegations. He said if the school confirms them, it is obligated to impose its own sanctions.

College Home Run Derby To Be Held In Omaha In July

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — College baseball will return to Rosenblatt Stadium at least one more time after next month's College World Series for a home-run derby in July.

The College World Series will be played at Rosenblatt for the 61st and final time June 19-29/30 before moving to a new downtown stadium in 2011.

TD Ameritrade, which paid to get its name on the new stadium, says it will bring eight of the top college sluggers to Rosenblatt on July 7 for a home-run derby. Tickets to the event will go on sale June 1 and cost $5.

The event will be broadcast by CBS on July 11 at noon Central.

Ameritrade CEO Fred Tomczyk says he hopes the home-run derby will become an annual event.

Big Demand For World Cup Tickets

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — The man in the yellow and green uniform raised his arms in jubilation, as if he had just scored a goal for his beloved South African national team.

"We are now finished! We got our tickets! Everything is sorted out," exulted Aden Lahood, displaying his prized purchase of World Cup tournament seats.

He was one of about 700 people who had mobbed a building in suburban Johannesburg during a frustrating, chaotic day of long lines and computer crashes Friday as a total of 160,000 tickets — including those for the semifinal and final games — went on sale in South Africa two weeks before the start of the World Cup.

For thousands of South Africans, the wait has been long but worth it.

Despite the computer glitches and some marketing flaws, World Cup organizers are likely to sell almost all the tickets for the tournament — thanks in large part to local fans.
