TARGET

Mauer hit a grounder up the middle that skipped off second base for an RBI single in the fourth when Scutaro couldn't handle it.

Sputtering designated hitter David Ortiz, who went 2 for 18 with nine strikeouts during the season's first week, helped his confidence with an RBI double that left fielder Delmon Young nearly caught over his shoulder — but dropped in an awkward collision with the wall in the fourth inning to give the Red Sox their first run.

Pavano had some help in the sixth, from third baseman Nick Punto's barehand pickup and throw for an out — and then from his own hand on a liner by Victor Martinez. Pavano stopped it, grabbed the ball, got the second out and punched his thigh in reaction to the pain. But after a couple of warmups and trainer and manager approval, Pavano stayed on the mound.

MLB Roundup: Cardinals Keep Houston Winless

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Albert Pujols homered and drove in four runs, leading Adam Wainwright and the St. Louis Cardinals over winless Houston 5-0 Monday in their home opener and dropping the Astros to 0-7.

New batting coach Mark McGwire drew one of the biggest cheers during the pregame introductions before his first home game since retiring after the 2001 season.

Pujols hit an RBI single and a three-run homer and Ryan Ludwick went 4 for 4. Wainwright (2-0) pitched eight innings and added his first career pickoff.

The Astros are off to their worst since opening 0-9 in 1983. They've been shut out three times while facing a string of aces — Tim Lincecum, Matt Cain, Roy Halladay and Wainwright already — and have scored a major league-low 13 runs.

Wandy Rodriguez (0-2) allowed four runs in 4 1-3 innings. The Cardinals' pregame pomp of the traditional introductory motorcade, including an appearance by 89-year-old Hall of Famer Stan Musial and a crowd of 46,918 — largest at 5-year-old Busch Stadium.

wrestling team year-in and year-out.

The Red Raiders reaped the rewards of Valentine's coaching, and he will leave the program after leading the team to its third straight Class B state championship.

"I don't have a coach that puts in as much time as he did," said Goter about Valentine's hard work as a coach. "He has set a work ethic that will be here for quite a while. No doubt he has done a fabulous job and got the kids and team to be successful."

But all of the hard work forced Valentine to spend time away from his wife and five kids.

His new role as a principal will allow him to see his family more.

"The job will have benefits with that and I will be able to spend more time with them," Valentine said. "I will see my family more and I will get to see more of my kids sporting events as they grow up."

Valentine said it was because of how old his kids are, his oldest kid is in seventh grade and his youngest one is one year old, it allowed him and his family to make the decision to take the job.

"The timing was more for our family; my kids are in school and I feel I could make a move and it wouldn't be quite so disruptive right now," he said. "If I waited longer, then I might not get the opportunity. Where my kids are age wise, this is a good time for it."

Valentine added his kids do have some reservations about the move and sad to be leaving some friends behind, but they are generally excited about the move.

Goter said Valentine found a great situation for him and his family.

"The timing had to be right and he found a school that is comparable in size to Wagner," he said. "He was also looking for a place that had a job for his wife, and with five kids, a place that had adequate housing. It just happened that the timing was now."

Valentine may be moving on to a different school and won't be a paid coach at his new school, but he said he still expects to find his way to the wrestling room once or twice.

Valentine and his family have enjoyed their time in Wagner and he leaves the town with a lot of memories.

"I don't know that there is one memory that will stick, but I think the success that we have had in wrestling and the young men who have gone through the program and are now having success in their professions; that's what kind of sticks with you," he said. "We will treasure our time here and we plan to make it back here from time to time."

Goter said Valentine will make a good principal.

"He served us well and we are happy to see him take a step up in his career ladder," he said. Valentine will start his new job as principal in Falls City, Neb. sometime in July.
