

2010 Parade of Homes

Saturday, April 24 • 10 a.m.-4 p.m.

When new houses are built in the Yankton area, people usually take notice, but often once the building is complete there isn't a chance to see the finished product, except from the outside. The Lewis & Clark Home Builders Association is offering area residents a sneak peek inside 11 recently constructed homes during the April 24th Parade of Homes.

"All the homes were built by local builders and it's a good opportunity for them to showcase their talents," said LCHBA president Tim Salvatori.

Of the 11 homes several are for sale and all have been built within the past 6 months to 2 years, Salvatori said. The Parade of Homes is held each year, except when the economy doesn't cooperate.

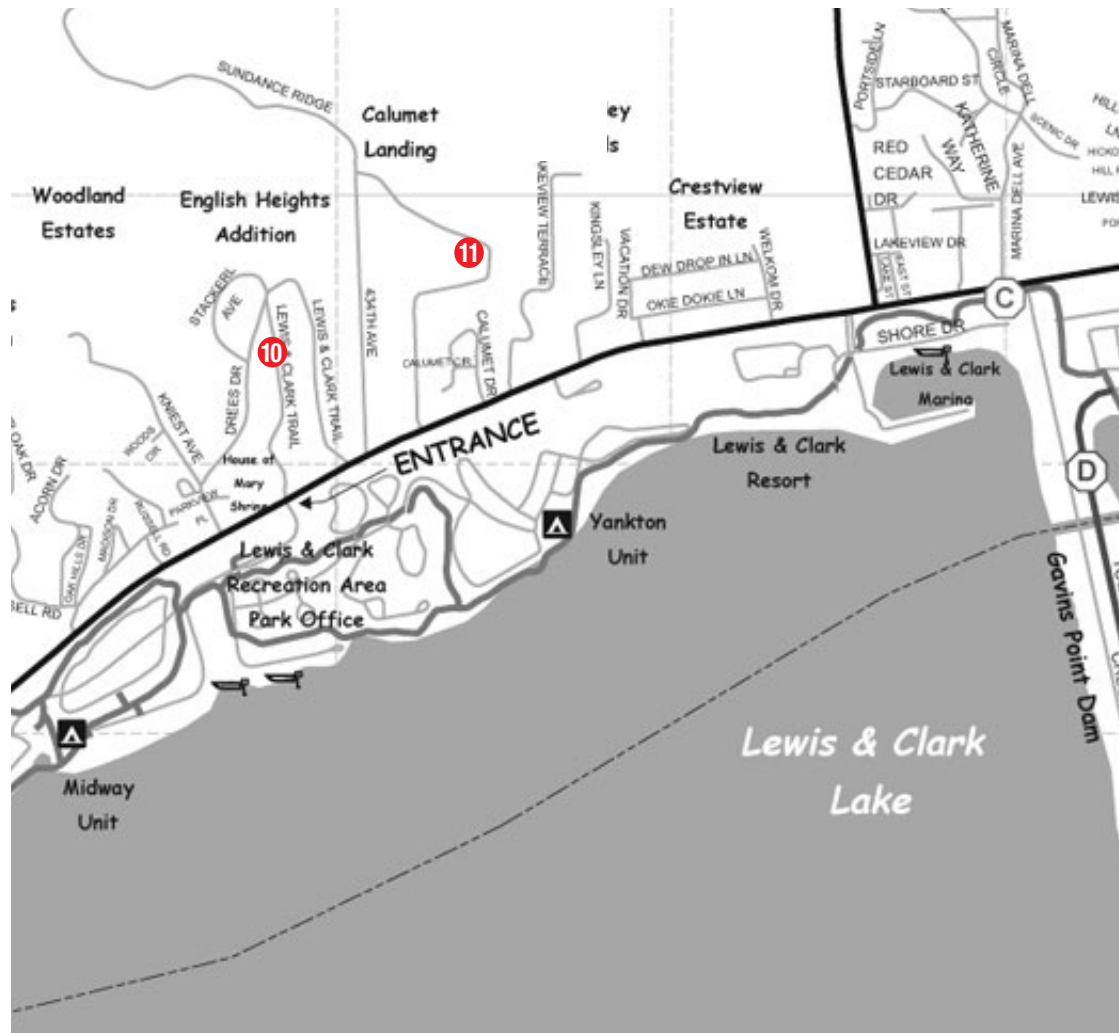

"Last year was the first year we had to skip in the last four or five years," Salvatori said. "We're pretty happy to have 11 homes this year. We'd like to see it go up to 20 or more and become an all-day event in the coming years."

The Parade of Homes is a free event and everyone is welcome to attend, Salvatori said.

"The event will be held from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. April 24 and all you have to do is look at the maps and directions and stop by the houses any time within those hours," he said. "Each house will be manned by someone related to the building of the house who will be able to answer questions. Most of them will also have literature including specs on the house."

According to the LCHBA Web site (www.lewisandclarkhomebuilders.com), the "parade offers potential home buyers the opportunity to preview the area's best builders, landscapers, interior designers and other building trades while getting a glimpse of trends in new homes and what can be done to update existing homes."

"We invite everyone to come and see the houses," Salvatori said.
