50 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, April 19, 1961
 • Christ Church Episcopal of Yankton, "mother" church of the two Dakotas, which will be celebrating its 100th anniversary during Dakota Territory Centennial Week in June, will be the scene of a state-wide gathering of church people this weekend. The local parish will be playing host to the 77th annual convocation of the Missionary District of South Dakota on Saturday.
 • The Yankton Association for Retarded Children, which will be entertaining the state association convention April 28-29, was a pioneer in the field of special education for the mentally handicapped child. Organized here in the fall of 1954, the chapter promoted a public school class for retarded children and saw its beginning when school opened the next fall.

25 YEARS AGO

Saturday, April 19, 1986
 • It was a stellar trip for Yankton's starwatcher, Thomas J. Cihak. As intensely as others stalk the taste of wild asparagus on sunny earthy jaunts, Cihak sought out the better view of Halley's Comet under a canopy of stars in faraway mountainous Chile. This trip was one carefully planned over a year's time in anticipation of a celestial experience that only occurs once every 76 years.
 • The feasibility of a family practice residency in Yankton may be considered by local physicians and Sacred Heart Hospital here in the near future. Dr. David Smith, an associate professor of family medicine at the University of South Dakota School of Medicine and chief of medicine at the South Dakota Human Services Center, said he is interested in seeing the family practice residency established with Yankton's involvement, to help replace the lost surgical residency and the reduced internal medicine satellite residency here.

DAILY RECORD POLICY

When juveniles are released from jail, it is into the care of a parent or guardian.
 It is the policy of the Press & Dakotan to publish all names made available in the police and court reports. There are no exceptions.
