• Albert Nelson and Irving Steurer have been appointed co-chairmen of Yankton's first "Yard of the Month" award, a new project of the Chamber of Commerce Civic Improvement committee. They, in turn, announce the acceptance of Mrs. Harold Tisher as head of a panel of 15 local women who this summer will be assessing the residential properties of Yankton for monthly citations aimed at giving public recognition to yards and gardens of outstanding beauty, neatness, and all-around attractiveness.

- The bones of Sitting Bull haven't been moved in almost a decade. It was on April 8, 1953 that a handful of silent Mobridge citizens - without even sending up a smoke signal - went by dark of night into the North Dakota portion of Standing Rock Indian reservation and dug up the wily old chieftain's grave.

"They were there for us..."

During the worst thing that could ever happen to our family, they were there for us.

We would never have been able to do what we had to do if it hadn't been for Opsahl-Kostel Funeral Home and their staff.

All of the staff...every one of them, had a hand in my son Dennis' service arrangements.

You talk to them and you don't have to worry about a thing. Everything is taken care of.
