Smelker Wins At Sioux City

SIOUX CITY, Iowa — Mount Marty's Katie Smelker took home victory in the women's 10,000-meter run to highlight the opening day of competition at the Sioux City Relays track and field meet on Friday.

Smelker clocked a 39:32.68, beating out Dakota Wesleyan freshman and Scotland native Haley Brunke (40:17.46)

Also for the MMC women. Jordyn Hudelson (Elk Point) finished fourth in the 5,000-meter run (20:00.10) and Samantha Rus finished seventh in the hammer throw (111-3).

For the MMC men, Jordan Pater finished third in the 10,000-meter run (33:30.20) and William Mart (Vermillion) placed eighth in the hammer throw (117-8).

Morningside's Taylor Kube (Crofton, Neb.) finished fourth in the men's 10K, clocking a 34:03.17.

The meet continues today (Šaturday) with high school and collegiate competition. Athletes from MMC and South Dakota are scheduled to participate, as are athletes from several area high schools. Yankton, which was scheduled to participate, will not compete in the event.

Somsen Takes Tough-Luck Loss As SDSU. Fort Wavne Split

FORT WAYNE, Ind. — South Dakota State senior pitcher Layne Somsen took a shutout into the seventh, but ended up taking the loss as Fort Wayne dropped SDSU 1-0 in the opening game of a Summit League baseball doubleheader on Friday at Mastodon Field.

Somsen went 6 2/3 innings, allowing one run on five hits. He walked one and struck out five as he fell to 2-3 on the season. The senior from Yankton has a Summit League-best 1.46 earned run average. SDSU won the nightcap 14-11 to earn the split.

USD Women's Tennis Team Earns Summit League Berth

OMAHA, Neb. — South Dakota's tennis team gualified for the Summit League Tournament in its first season of eligibility by earning wins against Oakland and IUPUI Friday at Koch Tennis Center. The Covotes won 4-2 and 4-1, re spectively, and will be the No. 4 seed in the four-team Tournament to be played April 26-27 in Fort Wayne, Ind.

This means a lot and I'm excited for our ladies," said USD head coach Malcolm Gilreath. "This is a tribute to their hard work. We will be thrilled to represent South Dakota and look forward to competing for the right to go to the NCAA tournament.'

South Dakota (15-10, 3-3) won four of five singles matches to get past Oakland (5-13, 3-4) after the Grizzlies had taken the opening doubles point. Hafsa Laraibi ignited the rally with a three-set win against Tamara Blum at No. 3. Blum took the opening set 6-1, but Laraibi fought back for identical 6-4 wins in sets two and three. Laraibi beat IUPUI's Rachael Bridgegroom 6-2, 6-4 in the afternoon match and has a combined singles and doubles record of 5-1 in League play.

Veronika Makashov and Yamini Reddy earned straightset wins at No. 5 and No. 6, respectively, against the Grizzlies. Reddy won 6-1, 6-0 and improved to 21-7 in singles play this season. The Coyotes' final point came from Milica Pavlovic who was leading when her opponent, Emily Raidt, withdrew due to injury.

IUPUI (5-18, 1-5) fielded just five players and thus spotted USD a 1-0 lead by defaulting at No. 6 singles. Pavlovic and partner Maria Tortosa earned an 8-4 win at No. 1 doubles, which was all the Coyotes needed to secure the doubles point to make it 2-0.

Nina Barudzic earned USD's third point with a quick 6-0, 6-1 win against Jaclyn Hyman at No. 4. Laraibi's win ended the match and secured the bid.

South Dakota concludes League play with a Saturday morning match against Omaha.

Soldier Honored For 'Shadow Marathon' In Iraq

BY JIMMY GOLEN

AP Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) - Lt. Col. Rodney Freeman was training for the 2005 Boston Marathon when his New Hampshire Army National Guard unit shipped out to Iraq.

Goodbye, Heartbreak Hill. Hello, Žiggurat of Ur.

"I was planning to run, and the government had a different idea," said Freeman, who gathered some friends together for a "shadow marathon" at their military base outside Nasiriyah, Iraq.

"At that time, Iraq wasn't a very friendly place. Everything coming out of Iraq was negative," Freeman said this week. "It's not the T-shirt. It's not the medal. It's not the marathon. It's the fact that Mom and Dad could see something back home that's positive.

The plans for that first race grew from a handful of buddies following a Humvee with a cooler of water to more than 350 runners, escorted by gun trucks, through the dusty Iraqi streets. The Boston Athletic Association, which organizes the marathon, has supported a shadow race for members of the military each year since then.

For inspiring a new tradition in the world's most traditional road race, the B.A.A. presented Freeman with its Patriots' Award on Thursday night during the annual marathon kickoff party.

A high school athlete while growing up in Maine, Freeman wasn't willing to give up on his dream of running Boston after he was deployed overseas. He gathered a few friends for a 26.2-mile run on Marathon Monday and sent off an email to the B.A.A. to let them know his plan.

The marathon organizers promised support, but they also encouraged Freeman to see if he could get cals were out in full force. Portable bathrooms and mobile hospitals were set out along the course. The Humvee with a cooler grew to eight tractor-trailers full of water. Instead of New England spring rain, Freeman had to worry about a sandstorm that hit two days before the race and prepare for sweltering heat. The run started at 6 a.m. to avoid the hottest part of the day; by noon that day, the temperatures had climbed to 130 degrees.

The B.A.A. sent over T-shirts and bibs for all the runners and finishers' medals just like the ones they hand out in Copley Square at the end of the 26.2-mile trek from Hopkinton. A banner with the organization's unicorn logo was hung over the start and finish line.

"Just like Boston shuts down for the day, the base shut down for the day," Freeman said. "It became something bigger than me.'

In fact, the event grew so large that Freeman was too busy to run in it. After he returned to the States, he was invited back to run Boston; he finished the 2006 race in about 4 hours, 30 minutes.

Since the 2005 race at Camp Adder, thousands of runners have participated in shadow marathons each year in Iraq and Afghanistan; the 2008 race on the supercarrier USS Nimitz was delayed for several days because of 50-knot winds and 14-foot waves.

"We would have blown several folks overboard to their deaths," Lt. Cmdr. Spencer Moseley told the B.A.A.

In his dress blue uniform, his chest covered with military medals, Freeman accepted the crystal Patriots Award and presented it to his wife of 16 years, Missy, noting that military families make just as many sacrifices as the soldiers and sailors sent abroad. He also thanked the long distance-running community, saying their dedication to the event was a form of patriot-

'Patriots aren't people who wear uniforms. Patriots are people dreams and aspirations," Freeman said. "Patriots are people that fight for something they believe in. The Iverson plans to stay in Las Vegas until mid to late June, working on his game and finishing up one last online class to complete his degree at CSU.

'I plan on finishing that and graduating here in May," he said. "I'm just looking forward to graduating, then on to the next step, which hopefully is a good professional basketball career."

ism, too.

triots.'

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) -NASCAR might take a closer look at how it approves sponsors after the National Rifle Association became the title sponsor of this weekend's Sprint Cup race at Texas during a national debate over gun rights.

NASCAR spokesman David Higdon said NASCAR has no official position on gun rights.

"Our fans, racing teams and industry partners come from all walks of life and thus have varying points of views and opinions," Higdon said Friday. "As a sport, we are in the business of bringing people together for entertainment, not political debate.'

Sponsorships are agreements directly between track and sponsor, but NASCAR reserves the right to approve or scuttle them.

Sprint Cup points leader and five-time champion Jimmie Johnson said it is "clearly a sensitive subject." He said drivers are in Texas to do their job and put on a great race.

His short iron that bounced twice and rolled straight into the cup at the 460-yard, par-4 ninth wasn't even the only eagle that came from the fairway; there were three of those.

But Haas' was the only one almost upstaged less than a minute after he knocked it in. Haas had barely finished high-fiving his caddie when a fan yelled at his playing partner, Jason Dufner, Put it in, Duf!" — and he nearly did.

Dufner's approach landed just inches left of the hole, and as the gallery around the green roared, it rolled out to four feet. As consolation, though, Dufner, made the birdie putt.

OR DON'T: To be fair, the windy conditions and diabolical pin placements made eagles of any kind tough to come by. At no place was that more true than at No. 15, where the number dropped to two just a day after 10 golfers made 3s on the 530-yard, par-5 hole.

"Yesterday that wind was kind of down and right on 15," Jim Furyk said. "Today it was mostly in and on the right. So, totally different, a totally different look."

One way to illustrate the difference was how, and how well, Furyk played the hole both days. In Thursday's opening round, he hit a hybrid for his second shot, landed it on the green and settled for par. On Friday, he used the
