75 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, April 3, 1940
• Aroused cleanup forces, led by 7,500 actively campaigning women, tore Kansas City's scandal-gripped city hall away from Tom Pendergast's machine yesterday. The victory, was achieved by a fusion of independent Democrats, Republicans and civic leaders, was almost as decisive boss ever achieved.
• "How much is a good citizen worth?" Yankton people will have an opportunity to ponder this question, and to answer it, next week when an appeal is made to them for support for the Boy Scouts of America.

50 YEARS AGO

Saturday, April 3, 1965
• A legal action has been instituted in the first judicial district circuit court to bring about a more equitable apportionment of the Yankton county commissioner districts on the basis of population.

• Three Communist MIG jet fighters jumped U.S. Navy aircraft today as the American planes blasted out a vital bridge link in North Vietnam's major north-south coastal rail and road route only 65 miles south of Hanoi, the Red capital.

25 YEARS AGO

Tuesday, April 3, 1990
• Concessions at the Fantle Memorial Park swimming pool may undergo some minor changes this season following recommendations from the Yankton Park Board.

At the recently held 2015 Wire Me Awake conference in Vermillion, Mount Marty College student, Trevor Munkvold, was awarded second place in the i2i (Invent to Innovate) Competition. Munkvold, a senior from Lesterville, SD is an accounting major at MMC.

As a competitor in the i2i competition Munkvold was required to submit a business proposal for a new, independent venture in the seed, start-up or early new concept for flavoring peanuts.

Munkvold was confident in his proposal. "Entrepreneurship just seems to come naturally for me. Starting at the age of 9, I've found ways to make money, serve a need and benefit from my ventures. Today, I also own, run, and manage a successful small town bar, Trev's Corner, in Lesterville, SD and creative ideas only will continue to advance my success."

The Mount Marty College business administration and accounting programs had six students attend the conference at Wire Me Awake, and Munkvold was the sole MMC student to submit a plan for consideration in the competition.

Wear Purple To Support SD Military Families

BROOKINGS — Operation Military Kids (OMK) is encouraging South Dakotans to wear something purple on April 15 in observance of Purple Up! for Military Kids Day! as part of celebrating Month of the Military Child. To make this easy, Purple Up! T-shirts are now available at www.iGrow.org/Store/.

WHY PURPLE, YOU ASK?

"Purple is the color that symbolizes all branches of the military. Purple is the combination of Army green, Coast Guard blue, Air Force blue, Marine red and Navy blue" explained Sheila Snyder, SDSU Extension Operation: Military Kids State Coordinator. "OMKs goal is to have a sea of purple all across our state on April 15, as a tangible salute to these remarkable kids." Snyder explained that Month of the Military Child is a month long celebration of our brave military kids that began in the early 1980s as a way to thank, honor, and recognize their contributions to our country as a member of a military family."

April Is Child Abuse Prevention Month

PIERRE — Nationwide, April has been designated as Child Abuse Prevention Month. The South Dakota Department of Social Services (DSS) encourages all South Dakotans to work together to keep children safe and secure, and offer the support families need to stay together.

"DSS is committed to protecting children from abuse, neglect and exploitation," said State Department of Social Services Secretary Lynne Valenti. "Every child has the right to feel safe and secure in their home, and it's important to support South Dakota families to provide resources when needed to help increase their ability to keep children safe." Individuals can be part of the prevention effort by:
• Learning about the signs of child abuse and neglect. Educate yourself and be prepared to recognize the signs. Learn more about the common signs of abuse and neglect at <http://dss.sd.gov/childprotection/signs.aspx>.
• Asking for help. As a caregiver, there are many resources available to provide support. Common Sense Parenting classes are held throughout the state and cover topics ranging from reducing family stress to enriching relationships with young children. For more information on this program, visit <http://dss.sd.gov/childprotection/parentingprogram.aspx>.

- Offering a helping hand to friends and neighbors. Let parents know you are available and willing to talk, or offer to give parents a rest by taking care of their children. Volunteer your time at local community programs providing support for families, such as after-school programs, athletic or church activities.
- Reporting suspected child abuse and neglect. If you have reason to believe a child is being abused or neglected, report it by calling 1-877-244-0864, or contacting your local law enforcement after-hours.
- Wearing a blue ribbon. Throughout the month, citizens are asked to wear blue ribbons or tie them to their vehicle antennas to spread the message of child-abuse prevention.
