favorite thing about this is all the cool places we get to see, the experiences we have and the different audiences we haves. It is a lot of fun because we are surrounded by theatre 24/7. That is our job.'

Actress Hannah McKechnie not only performs for the National Players Company, but she is also the master technician for the tour.

"I have never done anything like that before this, so this is all new to me. I absolutely love it," she said.

McKechnie went to Boston University to get her BFA in acting. It was there that she learned about National Players.

"I have wanted to be in the company ever since I learned about it," McKechnie said. "I just graduated, so this is my first job. It is very exciting.

McKechnie decided to become an actor after performing in Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet.

"I fell in love with the poetry and taking on that heightened verse and making it realistic," she said. "So the idea of being in a company who did Shakespeare as well as toured around the nation was a dream come true."

When McKechnie found out she was going to perform on the National Players tour, she couldn't believe it.

"I didn't think my audition went very well and was in the mindset of 'I didn't get it," she said. "So I kind of started planning my life of what I would do if I didn't get it. So when I did get it, it was like 'Whoa! I have to re-plan my life! I don't have to go to New York and be poor and try and audition for things."

Besides acting and working with the set, Smith and McKechnie also help with National Players workshops. The actors held a workshop at MMC and traveled to Bon Homme High School, Irene-Wakonda High School and the Federal Prison Camp during their Yankton stop.

"We teach acting and improvisation, decoding Shakespeare, text and context about the plays and how it relates to them," Smith said. "We also do voice and stage combats which are really great. This job gives us so much opportunity to just be invested in every single part of theatre which makes it really fun.'

Though these actresses are living their dream, life on the road can be tough.

"I'm in a long-distance relationship," McKechnie said. "That is probably the hardest part. It's hard to have half of your heart there and the other half in my job. I love what I am doing — but it is definitely hard. But on my worse days, I get into the mindset of 'This is part of the adventure.' I look at it positively. To work on Shakespeare for a year, to have a year to find myself and to travel — it's literally a dream come true and is everything I want."

National Players is a program of Olney Theatre Center and is made possible through support from the Arts and Humanities Council of Montgomery County, the Maryland State Department of Education and the Maryland State Arts Council.

Prosecutors Drop 32 Charges In Kidnapping Case Against Man

SIOUX FALLS (AP) — A man accused of kidnapping his girlfriend has pleaded guilty to aggravated assault in exchange for having 32 other charges dropped.

The Argus Leader reports 19-year-old Kip Edward Hart-wick is facing up to 15 years in prison.

Authorities accuse Hartwick of kidnapping his girlfriend on Dec. 17 after he rammed his sport utility vehicle into her friend's car. Authorities say the 18-year-old girlfriend texted her friend for help that day and told her she'd been having problems with Hartwick. Hartwick drove into the vehicle after having an argument with his girlfriend. Hartwick's girlfriend got out of her friend's car and began running after he hit the car. He chased her, dragged her to his vehicle and shoved her into the backseat.

Authorities later located both of them in Minnesota.
