Health Focus Group Set For Tuesday

The public is invited to take part in a Community Health Needs Assessment Focus Group at 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 21, in the Avera Sacred Heart Hospital Professional Office Pavilion.

The Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (ACA) contains requirements for tax-exempt hospitals to conduct community health needs assessments (CHNAs) every three years. Hospitals then adopt implementation strategies to meet the health needs identified through the assessments Avera Sacred Heart is requesting public input to help shape its CHNA and implementation plan.

The Avera Mission is "...to make a positive impact in the lives and health of persons and communities." CHNAs help Avera live out its mission for the communities it serves.

The focus group will be held in Conference Room No. 1 and is expected to last 75-90 minutes.

but an uncooperative atmosphere didn't allow the conditions to take full effect.

The current forecast calls for above average-rainfall in Nebraska and parts of South Dakota later in the summer due to El Nino.

This comes as some welcome news as the Midwest has gotten off to a very dry start to 2015. In Yankton between Jan. 1 and April 1, the city unofficially saw .96 inches of precipitation. By this time, the area would normally receive 2.55 inches. These were near recordbreaking conditions as both South Dakota and Nebraska experienced their second driest March since 1895. South Dakota had its driest start to the year through April 1 since 1895.
