For a South Dakota city not named "Sioux Falls," Yankton has produced more than its fair share of collegiate golfers.

Thursday's signing of Mitch Schlingman to South Dakota Mines is just the latest of a long line of Bucks – and Gazelles – to find their way to a college golf team. He is the second from the Class of 2015 alone, joining long time running mate Jace Guthmiller, who will head to the University of Nebraska this fall.

"We've had a lot of good golfers over the years," said Yankton head coach Brett Sime. "I'm looking forward to seeing what Mitch and Jace do at the collegiate level."

Golfers going from Yankton to the collegiate level is nothing new. At least three YHS alumni are currently on college golf rosters, including two at the NCAA Division I level: Megan Mingo (South Dakota State) and Hannah Withrow (South Dakota). Ben Jensen, a 2014 YHS grad, moved across town to continue his playing career at Mount Marty. Tyler Frick played at South Dakota Mines this fall before graduating in December. Another alum, Kaitlyn Erickson, was on Doane's roster before her death just over a year ago. (DC named its home women's golf invite after her, beginning this year.)

A number of recent alumni have also graced college golf rosters, including Chris Hoffman (MMC), Gabe Messler (USD), Ty Dannenbring (Lenoir-Rhyne, N.C., University) and Adam Walsh. (I am sure I missed a couple, but I am relying on my ever-fading memory.)

Yankton's golf history extends much further, with former professionals like Brian Kortan and Jim Ahern among its alumni base.

She recorded 282 digs with 35 ace serves last fall as a senior.

"Maura will enter the Lancer program with a lot of volleyball experience both at the High School and Club Volleyball levels," said former MMC head coach Candice Climer. "She is a leader on the court and is consistent with her passing. She reacts quickly to the ball and anticipates the attacker's next move. Maura will be a great addition to this program and will continue to help our serve receive and defensive areas get stronger by adding depth. She will be a great fit in the Lancer community."

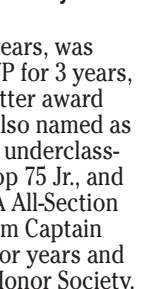

Lysne is the daughter of Dale Lysne and Diane Loftus from Plymouth, Minnesota, and plans to major in nursing and will be receiving a Merit Academic Scholarship and a Catholic Leadership Award in addition to her volleyball award.

Lysne Signs With Mount Marty Volleyball

Maura Lysne, a 5-foot-9 libero from Benilde-St. Margaret's School (St. Louis, Park, Minnesota), will attend Mount Marty College and play volleyball for the Lancers, the school announced Thursday.

Lysne was named an All-Conference player in the North Suburban Conference for four years, was Benilde-St. Margaret's Team MVP for 3 years, and was a varsity starter and letter award winner all four years. She was also named as a Minnesota 2012 6AAA Elite 50 underclassmen, a Minnesota 2013 6AAA Top 75 Jr., and was a member of the 2014 6AAA All-Section Team. Lysne also served as Team Captain during both her junior and senior years and was a member of the National Honor Society.
