Compiled By The Press & Dakotan

Six individuals with Yankton School District ties who have been instrumental in the arts will be inducted into the Yankton High School Fine Arts Hall of Fame Thursday, April 30.

This year's inductees include Kato Buss, Ph.D.; Carolyn Becker; Kathryn Reimler; Christina Madsen; and Cheryl and Terry Winter.

A Fine Arts Hall of Fame Social is set for 6:30 p.m. April 30 in the YHS Commons, followed by the induction ceremony in the YHS/Summit Activities Center theatre at 7:30 p.m.

Kato Buss, Ph.D.

Kato Buss is an assistant professor of Theatre Arts at the University of Central Oklahoma. He has more than 20 years experience as an actor, director, playwright and teacher.

Dr. Buss holds a Ph.D. in Theatre from the University of Oregon. His book, "Crockett, Cody and the Cowboy: Staging the American Frontier Hero" (University of Oklahoma Press, peer-reviewed 2015) explores a landscape of blood-and-thunder frontier melodrama in late-19th century American theatre.

His work has been published in the Journal of Dramatic Theory and Criticism, Texas Theatre Journal, Western States Theatre Review and the North-Northwest Anthology of New Plays.

Buss is a proud recipient of the Vanderford Distinguished Teacher Award (2014). His teaching career began as an Artist-in-Residence in the Lakota tribal schools of South Dakota. At UCO, he teaches acting, directing, theatre history, and dramatic literature. Kato is Assistant Chair of the Theatre Arts Department and Head of the BFA Performance Program.

Buss earned his B.F.A. in Theatre Performance from the University of South Dakota in 1995; his M.A. in Theatre Performance from Humboldt State University in 2007 and his Ph.D. in Theatre Studies from the University of Oregon in 2012.

Carolyn Becker

Carolyn Becker is from Yankton and a graduate of Yankton High School. She has a Corporate Communications degree from Buena Vista University along with a minor in Music and Spanish. Her goal in high school was to own radio stations. In 2004 Riverfront Broadcasting LLC was created and she and her husband, Doyle Becker, are the only two members. They purchased their first radio stations in 2004 and currently, the company owns nine radio stations in South Dakota including KYNT, KK93, and "The Dam," as well as six in Iowa.

The Yankton High School Fine Arts Hall of Fame inductees for 2015 include (clockwise from top left): Kato Buss, Carolyn Becker, Kathryn Reimler, Christina Madsen and Cheryl and Terry Winter. They will be inducted into the Hall of Fame during a special program at the YHS/Summit Activities Center theatre April 30. A social will precede the program. (Special thanks to Photography by Jerry)
