DAC, Frontier Conferences To Discuss Future

DICKINSON, N.D. (AP) — Dakota Athletic Conference and Frontier Conference officials are meeting in Dickinson next Wednesday to talk about the future.

DAC Commissioner Lavern Jessen says NAAIA President and CEO Jim Carr also plans to attend.

The meeting could be a preliminary step in merger talks, but Jessen says officials must first decide if it is economically feasible for the two conferences to work as one. He says the primary focus will be on the distances teams would have to travel.

The Frontier is a league of mostly Montana schools. Commissioner Kent Paulson has said the conference has been eyeing expansion for some time.

Because of recent or pending departures, the DAC, which once had 10 members, will be down to just four schools in the fall of 2011.

DAC Bowl In Fargo To Feature 4 Games

DICKINSON, N.D. (AP) — The Dakota Athletic Conference has scheduled a unique event to wrap up the football regular season. The Dacotah Bank DAC Bowl at the Fargodome in Fargo on Nov. 7 will feature eight conference schools competing in four games.

The pairings will be based on the conference standings following the Oct. 30 games. The top team will face the No. 4 team, No. 2 will play No. 3, No. 5 will take on No. 6, and No. 7 will square off against No. 8.

All the games will count in the conference standings.

Huskers Set Up Donation Program For Farmers

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Nebraska athletic director Tom Osborne has announced a new fundraising partnership between the athletics department and the state's farmers.

It's called Cornhusker Co-Op. In announcing the partnership on Friday, Osborne said, "There's a healthy respect for what athletes and farmers are required to do every year to be successful."

Grain elevators in Aurora, Dorchester and other towns are making agreements with the athletics department that will let farmers contribute a portion of their crop proceeds to the department.

Nebraska development officer Mike Dobbs says tokens of thanks from the department will include decals and special hats, facility tours and picnics.

Farmers interested in Cornhusker Co-Op may contact the athletics development, 402-472-2367.
