Did you know that two of the founders of the Ladies Professional Golf Association (LPGA) were born in Eureka, S.D.? Until Friday, neither did I.

It all started with a simple online search, trying to figure out if there were any South Dakota golfers to make the LPGA Tour since Sioux Falls' Kris Tschetter. (I'm pretty sure Kim Kaufman will be the next one.) It came up with two names, a pair of sisters, Marlene (Bauer) Hagge and Alice Bauer, who moved to Los Angeles in 1944.

At the age of 15, Hagge ruled the California amateur circuit, becoming the youngest athlete ever to win AP Female Athlete of the Year, Golfer of the Year and Teenage of the Year. She went on to win 25 events from 1952-72, and was the first woman to top $20,000 for a single year when she won $20,235 in 1956. She was still playing LPGA events into the 1990s, and was inducted into the World Golf Hall of Fame in 2002.

The older of the two, Alice won the SDGA women's match play in 1942 at the age of 14, but did not have the overall success that Marlene had. The closest she came to a pro win was a playoff loss in a tournament in 1955.

There have been others to come from South Dakota and have success on the links.

Tschetter, a Washington grad, played on the LPGA Tour from 1988-2012 before moving over to the Legends Tour. Before that, she won four straight SDGA Women's Stroke play titles.

Peggy Kirby won 17 Sioux Falls city titles, the SDGA women's stroke play five time, and helped Arizona State to a 1975 national title. She also made the cut at the 1978 U.S. Open as an amateur. She turned her attentions to coaching, helping Augustana to its first-ever NCAA Tournament appearance.

One S.D. transplant has her golf roots in Yankton, Indy Titterton. She didn't pick up golf until her 40s, but won five SDGA titles (4 match play, 1 stroke play) and finished second in four others in just 10 state tournaments.

The next on that list might be Kaufman, a 3-time champ of the SDGA Women's Amateur who is on course to earn her LPGA card.

Needless to say, there are plenty of role models for the young golfers in this weekend's SDGA Women's Amateur. Who knows? Maybe one of them adds their name to this list in the future.

Bormann, Lickteig Finish At Big 'I' Golf Championship

PINEHURST, N.C. — A pair of area golf standouts recorded top-35 finishes at the 45th annual Big 'I' National Championship, which concluded Thursday in Pinehurst, N.C.

Freeman's Arron Lickteig, headed to the University of Wyoming this fall, tied for 32nd place in the boys' division at +14.
