nominal speakers.”

One speaker will be Kristi Palecek, GM of Truxedo in Yankton.

“She is the only female GM of a manufacturing company out of 26 here in Yankton. She will be discussing her experiences of being a CEO of a manufacturing company and her experiences working up the ladder,” Merriam said. “Her speech will be about ‘embracing the opportunity.’”

Other speakers will include Dr. Bobbi Looney, assistant professor at BHSU School of Business; Dr. Pricilla Romkema, first female dean of BHSU College of Business and Natural Sciences in more than one hundred years; and Kari Karst, president of BX Civil and Construction.

SD CEO has been offering these conferences in the Black Hills for the past five years with an attendance of 250 women per conference. After developing relationships through women and businesses in the Yankton area, the center came up with a goal to have a conference in Yankton.

“With a ton of hard work and months and months of planning with our planning team, we have finally scheduled the event,” said Merriam.

SD CEO is the only Women’s Business Center in the state. The center provides assistance and counseling for aspiring and established entrepreneurs to help provide economic development within the state.

“We have been able to make connections with 45 of the 66 counties in South Dakota,” Merriman said.

“Many people attend our events or come in for advice on how to start a business or how to strengthen their business.”

Sponsors for the conference include: Applied Engineering, Avera Sacred Heart, CorTrust Bank, First National Bank of South Dakota, Kolberg-Pioneer, Inc., KVHT, Truxedo, Inc., WNAX, Yankton Chamber Of Commerce, Yankton County Observer and the Yankton Press and Dakotan.

“We have great sponsors that have gave us tons of support. This says to me that these businesses are truly interested in women in this community.”

Registrations for the event are accepted online at www.BHSU.edu/SDCEO or by phone at (605)-668-5700 or (605)-642-6435. Early registration ends Sept. 2.

provements in the national and regional job market supported supply managers’ business outlook,” Goss said.

The index on new export orders index slipped to a still-healthy 57.5 in July from 60.2 in June. The import index for July jumped to 57.7 from June’s 53.4.

“It is a very encouraging signal to track very healthy export readings and an eighth straight month of expanding export orders,” Goss said. “Exports remain an important source of growth for the region. At the same time, firms in the region continued to expand purchasing from abroad in expectations of upturns in company sales in the weeks and months ahead,” he said.

obedience because you get to teach your dog new stuff every year.”

Maier said she has learned more about her dogs from showing them.

“Trying to understand them yourself isn’t the easiest, but showing them has helped me understand them more,” Maier said.

Joyce Anderson, co-leader of Dogs R Us, said she enjoys watching the 4-Hers learn more about themselves and their dogs.

“They learn how to take care of and groom their dogs,” Anderson said. “They also learn about the diseases their dogs could get and the vaccinations they need. They also are able to teach their dogs obedience, so their dogs can go out in public and not pull on the leash or jump, which then makes taking the dogs out in public more fun.”

Anderson said showmanship also gives the 4-Hers and their dogs a chance to present their best selves.

“The kids always look really classy out there,” she said. “It gives them a chance to strut their stuff and show off.”
