

More Clouds, Stormy Night

9 a.m.: 70 | 3 p.m.: 82
FORECAST DETAILS: PAGE 2

MONDAY ■ August 4, 2014

Yankton Legion
Falls In State
Tournament
Final • 8

f t r Volume 140
Number 84

The Dakotas' Oldest Newspaper | 12 PAGES | www.yankton.net

75¢

INSIDE

Kunick, Merkel
Claim Hillcrest
Pro-Am Titles
■ 8

INSIDE

Mitchell Wins
State Majors
Teener Title ■ 8

* * *

Man Killed In 4-Wheeler
Accident

BY RANDY DOCKENDORF
randy.dockendorf@yankton.net

A Yankton County man died Sunday from injuries sustained in a four-wheeler accident.

Terry Norman Turner, 64, of 30654 Southwest Jim River Road suffered fatal injuries when his four-wheeler landed on top of him for a prolonged period of time, according to Lt. Clint Clites with the Yankton County sheriff's office.

Turner's roommates said he left for a four-wheeler ride as they were going to bed late Saturday night. The roommates woke up Sunday morning to find Turner wasn't home.

The roommates followed Turner's four-wheeler tracks, which indicated he was riding east of their residence. He was traveling along the edge of a bean field adjacent to the James River, northeast of Yankton.

Turner's roommates found the missing man early Sunday afternoon with the four-wheeler on top of him, Clites said. Turner was apparently traveling at night when he went into a washout. The four-wheeler fell on top of him, trapping him underneath.

The roommates lifted the four-wheeler off Turner, placed him in a pick-up and contacted the Yankton County EMS, Clites said. The roommates said they would meet the ambulance on the east side of Yankton.

Yankton County Coroner Aricka Nickles responded to the same location, where Turner was pronounced dead at the scene.

ACCIDENT | PAGE 2

CORRECTION

A caption for the photo that ran with Saturday's Press & Dakotan story titled "Women To Be Celebrated At Inaugural Business Conference In Yankton" misidentified one of the individuals. Chauntel Wright-Moore is an admission representative from Black Hills State University, not Yankton College. We apologize for the error.

A Colorful Start To A World Event

KELLY HERTZ/P&D

These members of the South African archery team participate in the "friendship dance" during the opening ceremonies of the International Field Archery Association (IFAA) World Field Championships at Yankton's Easton Archery Center Sunday. The Native American dance was part of the performance by the Many Moccasins Dance Troupe of Winnebago, Nebraska. Archers from 17 countries are on hand for the tournament, which runs through Friday.

IFAA Archery Tourney Opens With Pageantry

BY JEREMY HOECK
jeremy.hoeck@yankton.net

As a kick-off to this week's international archery tournament in Yankton, the star — four stars, actually — of Sunday night's opening ceremonies proved to be the five Mount Rushmore mascots.

There to represent South Dakota's famous landmark, the mascots were popular targets for photos.

"That is one of the things we like to show off," South Dakota Lt. Gov. Matt Michels said during the ceremony at the Yankton Easton Archery Complex.

Also serving as the close of the National Field Archery Association (NFAA) Outdoor National Championships, the ceremony opened the International Field Archery Association (IFAA) World Field Championships, which begin today (Monday) and continues through Friday.

Archers from 17 countries have converged on Yankton to shoot in the five-day tournament, which will be held at the new NFAA field ranges.

"It is an incredible honor and privilege for you to come here to be part of our family," Michels told the crowd.

That new family features a number of foreign visitors who have never traveled to the United States.

Among them is Peter Hearne, a 15-year-old archer from Australia. Hearne, who is still shy of two years in the sport, said he won three events at a national tournament back home, and was picked to be on the Australian team at the IFAA event.

"I wasn't even planning to go, but I got enough money to come," he said.

As expected, the travel for many of the archers took a full day. Hearne said his took approximately 20 hours in total.

"The travel was exhausting, but it's been a good experience," Hearne said. "It's a good trial for other events."

His early impression of the United States?

"From what we see on TV, everyone is friendlier than I expected," he said with a smile. "It's not that much different from Australia, to be honest."

Travel for some, however, proved to be an adventure, according to another Australian, Craig Hair.

He said his plane arrived late in Los Angeles, and then his group

ARCHERY | PAGE 5

Yankton Co. 4-Hers' Tales Of The Tape

KAYLA PRASEK/P&D

Yankton County Commissioner John Harper maneuvers his hog around the ring during Saturday night's Celebrity Round Robin, part of Yankton County 4-H Achievement Days.

From Duct-Tape Apparel To Cupcake Sales, Achievement Days Offers A Bit Of Everything

BY RANDY DOCKENDORF
randy.dockendorf@yankton.net

When it comes to duct tape, comedian Red Green — known for his creative uses of the silver stuff — might pick up tips from a pair of Yankton County 4-Hers.

Tatum Hohenthanner and Heather Maier wore outfits made of the sticky material during Saturday night's fashion review during the annual Achievement Days.

"It's a category known as the Duct Tape Challenge," said fashion review announcer Lori Hansen.

Hohenthanner, 10, belongs to the Yankton Clovers 4-H Club. She chose to take the Duct Tape Challenge because it fit her style.

"I wanted to be a rock star for Halloween, so I made a duct tape outfit," she explained. "I made a dress out of (the tape), and I have jeans under it."

And how long did it take her to complete the sticky dress?

"A few, solid days," she said, emphasizing each word.

Maier, 13, is a member of the Clever Clovers and no stranger to the event.

"I did the Duct Tape Challenge last year, so this is my second time doing it," she said. "Last year, I saw a dress and I laid out a pattern. This year, though, I used a mannequin for making my dress."

The 4-H clothing competition was already held this summer, with purple ribbon qualifiers headed for the State Fair in Huron during Labor Day weekend.

Saturday night's program provided a large audience for the 4-Hers to show off their outfits. The room was full for the 4-H supper and the cake and cupcake auction. Afterwards, the Celebrity Round Robin

4-H | PAGE 2