Wife Cheating On Husband Needs To Figure Out Why

DEAR ABBY: I am 21 and on my second marriage. My husband of two years is every girl's dream man...

51. It's my first marriage and his second. He complains that I am not sensual enough for his needs, or intimate enough.

DEAR ABBY
Jeanne Phillips

So tell me, why am I cheating on him? I never thought I could find myself in this situation. I have a lot happening in my life, but there is no excuse for why I am straying from such an amazing husband.

My question is: How do I become more sensual and intimate? His complaints are vague. We see a marriage counselor every three weeks.

We see the other man. He works for my parents. This situation is messy, and I don't know what to do. I can't tell my husband - it would ruin his life.

I'm glad that the two of you are in marriage counseling, and I recommend you raise this subject during your next session. Because your husband seems capable of only vague answers when you have asked for clarification, your counselor may be able to encourage him to open up.

DEAR RECKLESS: You're playing at matrimony as if it were a game instead of a deep, enduring partnership.

Dear Abby is written by Abigail Van Buren, also known as Jeanne Phillips, and was founded by her mother, Pauline Phillips.

If you think leaving your husband "for no reason" would be less hurtful than telling him the truth, you are mistaken. You owe it to him to level with him about the affair so he won't blame himself for your leaving.

To receive a collection of Abby's most memorable - and most frequently requested - poems and essays, send your name and mailing address, plus check or money order for $7 (U.S. funds) to: Dear Abby - Keepers Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, IL 61054-0447.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 3 1/2 years to my wonderful husband. We are both
