

Onward Yankton Finalists To Present Proposals Monday

The six finalists in Onward Yankton's search for the community's next big idea will present their proposals at a public meeting scheduled for Monday, Aug. 31. Presentations begin at 6:30 p.m. at Discovery Church (the former Brunick Furniture building), located at 205 W. Third St. Each finalist will be given 10-15 minutes to explain his or her idea, and audience members will be asked to fill out evaluations for each proposal. A short question-and-answer session will follow the presentations.

"Each finalist has put a lot of thought into these proposals, and we're excited to see what more they have to say about them," said Onward Yankton committee member John Andrews.

"We're hoping to see a large turnout because whatever idea is ultimately chosen will have a significant impact on Yankton."

The six finalists were culled from 508 ideas that were submitted during Onward Yankton's 100-day search, which was launched in April. Members of the Onward Yankton committee previously narrowed the submissions to 15 semifinalists. The final six were announced on Aug. 4. The winning idea, which comes with a $10,000 prize, will be chosen yet this year.

Each idea in its entirety is available at www.onwardyankton.com. The finalists and a summary of each idea are:

- * A partnership between Mount Marty College and the community of Yankton to boost student enrollment by 50 percent and provide career opportunities to entice them to stay after graduation. Submitted by Mount Marty College, Yankton.
- * Make Yankton the Missouri River Capital of Entrepreneurship. Establish a creative downtown district with enhanced food, retail and housing, create a business incubator space and develop strong partnerships with Vermillion, the University of South Dakota and Mount Marty College. Submitted by Jacob Fokken, Sioux Falls.
- * Signature River's Edge Tower and Downtown. Create a mixed-use development along the river including a mid-rise tower that offers condos, apartments, lofts and business space, area shopping and public art. Submitted by Gregg Kopetsky, Yankton.

- * Make Yankton the best city in America for children. Provide early childhood education for everyone, create a program to help students in ninth grade and lower who struggle with math and reading, establish a children's museum and provide a college education at the University of South Dakota or Mount Marty College to students who start a business or work in specific fields in Yankton. Submitted by Billie and Kelsea Sutton, Burke.
- * Create a Four Seasons Entertainment Venue below Chalkstone Hill, including an amphitheater, Outdoor Campus, a reconstructed Fort Yankton with multi-use park and flagship hotel. Submitted by Carmen Schramm and Marcy Jones, Utica.
- * Recreate community identity by establishing a stronger connection between the city and Lewis and Clark Lake, downtown redevelopment and the creation of the Yankton Cultural Marketplace. Submitted by Benjamin Hovland, Philadelphia.

Corps To Manage River's Sandbar Activity

During September, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers will conduct vegetation management activities on sandbars in the Missouri River between Pickstown and Ponca, Nebraska. Approximately 700 acres have been identified for treatment in 2015 by a team of federal and state representatives. This work is being done to keep the sandbars free of vegetation and usable by the endangered interior least tern and threatened piping plover for nesting.

Certified applicators using helicopters and all-terrain vehicles will begin spraying after Labor Day only on vegetated portions of the sandbars. Spraying will be done with glyphosate and imazapyr, both approved for aquatic use by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

Spraying will take place only when environmental conditions allow, such as little to no wind and no rainfall in the immediate forecast. While efforts will be made to conduct spraying during the week, when public use is lower, spraying may occur on weekends since good spraying days can be limited due to wind or rain.

The Corps began current vegetation control and removal activities on selected sandbars in 2012 and will continue each spring and/or fall, as needed, into the future.

In 2000, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service issued a Biological Opinion (BiOp) in which the agency found the Corps' operations on the Missouri River would not likely jeopardize endangered interior least tern and threatened piping plover populations if certain recommendations were implemented. One of those recommendations is to restore emergent sandbar habitat as nesting habitat for these two species. After public review of a draft environmental assessment, the "Final Environmental Assessment and Finding of No Significant Impact for Restoration of Emergent Sandbar Habitat Complexes in the Missouri River, Nebraska and South Dakota" was released in May 2013.
