Yankton Drug Bust

KELLY HERTZ/P&D
The Yankton County Sheriff's Department displays the findings of a drug bust carried out west of town Wednesday afternoon. At around 4 p.m., the Yankton County Sheriff's Department responded to Robin St. in Riverside Acres after receiving complaints of heavy traffic at the house. Officers found drug paraphernalia, marijuana, scales, grinders and THC wax on the premises. Blake Rierson (20, Yankton) and Shadron Baker (18, Yankton) were arrested for possession with intent to distribute marijuana (1 oz.-1/2 pound); possession of drug paraphernalia; possession, sale or distribution of certain substances for the purpose of intoxication; possession of marijuana (2 oz. or less) and two counts of possession of a controlled substance.

Gavins Point Dam Road Closed

Crest Road, the road that crosses the Gavins Point Dam, will be closed from 8 a.m. Monday, Aug. 31, through noon Friday, Sept. 4. This closure will include nighttime hours. The public is asked to plan on an alternate route of travel during this time. The closure is a result of the inspection, repair and painting of the spillway gates. There will be periodic closures throughout duration of the construction, which will continue into the fall. People can stay informed about upcoming road closures by visiting www.nwo.usace.army.mil/gavinspoint or by calling 402-667-2546.

Yankton Youth To Participate In Science Experiment

4-H National Youth Science Day experiment combines cars, calculators and cell phones to show how physics principles influence a pressing problem among U.S. teens. Youth in Yankton will join hundreds of thousands of youth across the world in leading the eighth annual 4-H National Youth Science Day (4H NYSD) experiment. This year's experiment, called "Motion Commotion," will combine a speeding car collision and a distracted driving demonstration in a simulated activity that investigates the physical and human factors of motion. Yankton youth will conduct the two-part "Motion Commotion" experiment on Oct. 7 at the Yankton Community Library, where they will use every day materials — including a toy car, modeling clay, ruler, calculator and cell phone — to explore physics in the real-world. In the first phase, youth will construct a simulated runway to analyze the speed, momentum and kinetic energy of a car in motion, and will explore the science behind the car's collisions. In the second phase, they will lead an experiment that uses the same physics principles to demonstrate the consequences of distracted driving. The "Motion Commotion" experiment will run from 3:45-5 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 7. It will be limited to the first 10 youth who sign up. Youth will need to be in grade 4 or above. Parents and youth can pre-register at the Yankton Community Library. Pre-registration will begin on Aug. 31. A waiting list will be used for youth who wish to participate after the class is full. Another class may be scheduled if there is enough interest. 4-H NYSD is the world's largest, youth-led science experiment. The national rallying event for 4-H Science, 4-H NYSD is an interactive learning experience that gets youth excited about science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM), and spotlights the many ways Yankton youth are engaging in 4-H Science programs year-round. The 2015 activity was designed by Oregon State University Cooperative Extension in partnership with Vernier Software & Technology and selected as the winning experiment for the eighth annual 4-H NYSD. In addition to youth in Yankton, youth will conduct the "Motion Commotion" experiment at hundreds of local events taking place nationwide. National 4-H Council will host the flagship national event, with hundreds of youth participating in the experiment on October 7 in Washington, D.C. The national sponsors of 2015 4-H NYSD are Hughes (HughesNet satellite Internet), Lockheed Martin and U.S. Cellular. A recent longitudinal study conducted by Tufts University, The Positive Development of Youth: Comprehensive Findings from the 4-H Study of Positive Youth Development, revealed 4-H programming does indeed get young people more connected to science. According to the study, 4-Hers are two times more likely to participate in science, engineering and computer technology programs during out-of-school time (Grades 10-12) and 4-H girls are two times more likely (Grade 10) and nearly three times more likely (Grade 12) to take part in science programs compared to girls in other out-of-school time activities. Every year, youth complete more than 5 million 4-H Science projects in robotics, agricultural science, rocketry, wind power, environmental science and alternative energy. To learn more about 4-H NYSD, visit www.4-h.org/nysd. Science kits for the 2015 National Science Experiment are currently available for pre-order.

Seigenthaler To Receive Al Neuharth Journalist Award

VERMILLION — Broadcast journalist John M. Seigenthaler, who anchors Al Jazeera America's prime-time news program and previously anchored "NBC Nightly News" weekend edition, will receive the 2015 Al Neuharth Award for Excellence in Media on Oct. 1 at the University of South Dakota. The award is named for the late USA Today and Freedom Forum founder Al Neuharth, a native of Eureka and 1950 graduate of USD. It honors lifetime achievement in media and will be presented as part of a daylong celebration on campus. Seigenthaler is following in the footsteps of his father, the late John Seigenthaler, who received the 1999 Al Neuharth award in recognition of his lifetime work promoting quality journalism and the First Amendment. The elder Seigenthaler, a civil rights champion, founder of the Newseum Institute's First Amendment Center and founding editorial page editor of USA Today, died in 2014. During his 11 years at NBC, the younger Seigenthaler appeared on "Today," "Dateline" and "Meet the Press" and anchored news programs on CNBC and MSNBC. He has received numerous awards for his work in journalism. "John's commitment to excellence in television news spans a period in which news and information has become available in unprecedented volume from an ever-increasing number of sources," said Gene Policinski, chief operating officer of the Newseum Institute. "Whether the platform is local, national or international, he consistently has called for and delivered the kind of clear, accurate and solid journalism his audiences sought and deserved." The Al Neuharth Award for Excellence in Media is presented by USD and the Newseum Institute. Seigenthaler is the 29th recipient.
