

Table with columns for Broadcast Stations, Time (3:00 to 1:30), and Program/Channel. Includes sections for Pay Channels and Cable Stations.

Schmeckfest Tickets Are Now On Sale

FREEMAN — Orders are being accepted for tickets for the 55th annual Schmeckfest to be held in Freeman March 15-16 and 22-23, 2013.

The popular festival, which began in 1959 with an ethnic German meal, has grown to a multifaceted festival now held on two consecutive weekends.

Tickets are also on sale for reserved seats for the 2013 Schmeckfest musical production "Fiddler on the Roof." It will be presented each night of Schmeckfest with an 8 p.m. curtain at Pioneer Hall.

Tickets for the musical are available by visiting Schmeckfest, Box S, Freeman, SD 57029 or online at www.schmeckfest.com where credit card orders can be placed directly or an order form can be printed and mailed.

The festival also includes demonstrations of culinary arts, which are held at Sterling Hall on the Freeman Academy campus.

As in past years, the festival also includes free historical and musical presentations. A random drawing is held Dec. 10 to process all orders received prior to that date.

Schmeckfest — a "tasting festival" — was started in 1959 as a one-time, one-day event by the Freeman Academy and Junior College Women's Auxiliary to celebrate its 10th anniversary.

Schmeckfest proved to be so popular that it was repeated the following year ... and the year after and it quickly became an annual affair.

Larson found a silver lining in a flock of Muslim servant girls whom she ferried to errands and eventually befriended. Irritated at the Princess' multi-million-dollar designer-clothing budget, Larson revealed in the servants' love of the Dollar Store.

What would it be like to snag a once-in-a-lifetime job, the kind of which would give you stories to tell for the rest of your life? Read "Driving the Saudis" and be careful what you wish for.

In a manner that reminded me of under-one's-breath muttering, author Jayne Amelia Larson does a good amount of grousing.

But this is not just a memoir about a great job with a bad spin. Look closer and you'll see that Larson has also sprinkled in tiny joys: friendship, small gratitudes, new delights, duty and love.

Yes, there's opinionating here, but this book also contains a good story. That's why I couldn't put it down, and that's why I think you'll enjoy it, too.

THURSDAY PRIMETIME/LATE NIGHT DECEMBER 13, 2012

Table with columns for Broadcast Stations, Time (3:00 to 1:30), and Program/Channel. Includes sections for Pay Channels and Cable Stations.

Advertisement for spotted.yankton.net with text 'Upload & Share Your Photos FREE!' and 'Purchase photos too! For FREE!'