his Academy Award-winning songs and scores for Disney films including "Toy Story." But his ability to balance a sharp satirical wit with naked emotion and heart and make it all hummable has earned him numerous accolades and fans.

The satirical bent is evidenced by some of his biggest and commonly misunderstood pop hits the bouncy and controversial "Short People" and the feint praise of "I Love L.A." The heart and emotion can be found in the plainspoken lyrics of songs such as the hurricane-themed "Louisiana 1927," which gained new resonance in the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina, and "You've Got a Friend in Me" from "Toy Story."

His rock hall honor is another in a long line of accolades that include his 2002 Songwriters Hall of Fame induction, 20 Academy Awards nominations (with two wins), three Emmys and five Grammy Awards. This is his second nomination, but he's been eligible since 1993.

PUBLIC ENEMY

The militant, fist-pumping, sloganeering rap group is known for its purposefully dense beats (courtesy of the production team the Bomb Squad), emcee Chuck D's big voice and angry, pro-black screeds, balanced by class clown Flava Flav.

Albums such as "It Takes a Nation of Millions to Hold Us Back" (1988), "Fear of a Black Planet" (1990) and "Apocalypse '91 ... The Enemy Strikes Black" (1991), helped elevate and expand hiphop from the more traditional party rocking and bragging. The group's scorched-earth lyrical approach to issues facing the black community, found in songs such as "Rebel Without a Pause," "Fight the Power" and "Don't Believe the Hype," jump-started hip-hop's (long dead) socially conscious era, courted controversy and forced critics and pundits to take the music and the message seriously.

This is the first nomination for the band, which became eligible this year.

DONNA SUMMER

Best known as the Queen of Disco, Summer, who died in May, was an R&B singer who ruled the dance charts in the late 1970s with sexy songs including the breathy, pulsating "I Feel Love" and contro-versial "Love to Love You Baby."

In the ensuing years, Summer expanded her sound and crossed over with tunes such as the rockflavored "Hot Stuff," "Bad Girls,"
"She Works Hard for the Money," "On the Radio" and "Enough Is Enough," her girl-power duet with Barbra Streisand.

Summer had hits into the '90s with "State of Independence" and in 1999, her VH1 television special "Donna Summer ... Live and More received some of the net Encore work's highest ratings.

This year's nomination was Summer's fifth. She's been eligible since 1999.

LOU ADLER

Receiving the Ahmet Ertegun (nonperformer) Award is music producer and manager Adler, Jack Nicholson's courtside buddy at Laker games. Adler is also a film director and owner of the fabled Roxy in Los Angeles. Besides owning one of the most famous rock clubs in the music's storied history, Adler is known for producing "Rocky Horror Picture Show," directing the classic stoner comedy "Cheech and Chong Up in Smoke" and producing artists such as the Mamas and the Papas, the Grass Roots and Sam Cooke.

OUINCY JONES

Why this obvious choice has taken this long is a bit of mystery. As a producer, Jones guided Michael Jackson's trilogy of pop awesomeness — "Off the Wall," "Bad" and "Thriller" (you know, the best-selling album of all time). He organized/produced "We Are the World," produced the film adaptation of the Broadway musical "The Wiz" and performed and/or recorded with music legends, including Sarah Vaughan, Billy Eckstine, Frank Sinatra, Ray Charles,

Miles Davis and Ella Fitzgerald. He won a best album of the year Grammy for his generation- and genre-melding hit album "Back on the Block" and gave the world two of the best television themes ever in "Sanford & Son" and "Ironside."

Those who will have to wait a bit longer for induction are 2012 nominees Deep Purple, Paul Butterfield Blues Band, Chic, Joan Jett and the Black Hearts, Kraftwerk, the Marvelettes, the Meters and Procol Harum.
