Fire Damages Rural Irene House
IRENE — A rural Irene home was heavily damaged by a fire that broke out Saturday morning. According to reports, the fire was called in at approximately 9:30 a.m. The Wakonda Fire Department initially responded to the call, with units from Irene and Viborg later summoned. There were no other details at press time. Fire officials were working to determine a cause for the blaze.

Open House For Kettering Slated Tuesday
A farewell open house for Pam Kettering, who is retiring as director of the Yankton United Way & Volunteer Services, will be held from noon-4 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 18, at the Nonprofit Center, 610 W 23rd St., Yankton. Cake and coffee will be served. The public is invited to attend.

Deadline For FEMA Program Funds Looms
SIOUX FALLS — The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) has announced that $250,000 has been awarded to South Dakota by the Emergency Food and Shelter Program (EFSP) to supplement food, shelter, rent, mortgage, and utility assistance programs for people with non-disaster related emergencies. Funding will be allocated to Local Recipient Organizations (LRO's) by the State Set-Aside Committee using a formula based on current unemployment, food insecurity and poverty data from the entire state. The Local Boards of each LRO will then determine how those funds will be distributed to qualified agencies in the counties that they oversee. Public or private voluntary agencies interested in applying for Emergency Food and Shelter Program funds must: 1) be non-profit 2) have accounting capabilities 3) practice non-discrimination 4) demonstrate ability to deliver emergency food and/or shelter services 5) convene a voluntary board (if a private entity). Agencies interested in applying for funding can contact Matt Gassen, the State Set-Aside Committee Chair, at (605) 335-0364 for information on where to apply for funding. Current participating LRO's are not required to re-apply for funding during this phase, but should notify the State Set-Aside committee if they are considering changing their status as an LRO. Deadline for applications is no later than Dec. 21.

them personally, professionally and academically," Reese said. "I encourage students to use writing as a form of thinking and as a mean to take part in public discussions." Reese's speech began with a light-hearted poem that he and fellow professors Rich Lofthuis and Dana De Witt crafted toward students. Entitled "Composition 103: No periences of others. Those who ignore the past generally wind up repeating it. Never give up." 9. There is no such thing as a self-made person. "You got here through the help of a lot of parents, spouses, teachers, preachers, friends and Scout leaders," he said. 8. The harder you work towards a goal, amazingly, the luckier you get. Gilbertson noted that he is struck by the accomplishments of some of USD's best-known graduates, ranging from Neuharth and Robbie, to Ernest Lawrence, Tom Brokaw, and Joe Foss. "Every one of these individuals gives credit to USD as one of the primary foundations for their success," he said. 7. Always treat others the way you want to be treated, or suffer the consequences. 6. Life is not always fair. "In fact, if I can give you a guarantee today, it will be that life is not fair," Gilbertson said.

Shoes Required," the poem details how students like DVD's more than books and the way they arrive to class (down to the Victoria's Secret "I Love Pink" pajama bottoms and a cowboy with a holster for his BlackBerry). A simple question from a student in the front of the class — "Are we supposed to be taking notes on this?" — prompts a pop quiz with four choices to describe the basis for the Hundred Year War. The first three choices are logical ones, but the fourth is a long-winded answer about how professors surrender control of the classroom.

Professors, Reese read, "finally recognizing the unalienable rights of students to text 24 hours a day, seven days a week as a natural right, based on loose construction of Thomas Jefferson's pursuit of happiness clause in the Declaration of Independence." The result, the poem says, is a "dramatic decline in the production and sale of hooded sweatshirts across all of Christendom." The punch line to the poem is when one student finally breaks the silence with the question, "Is this supposed to be some kind of joke? History? I didn't sign up for that."

Following the conferring of degrees, Betty Bisgard from the Mount Marty Alumni Association talked to the graduates about being active alumni members. She also added, "Please be generous with us." Also at Saturday's ceremony, Teresa Hoffman of Grand Island, Neb., was presented with the Agatha Hodgins Award. The award is presented to a nurse anesthesia student who has "excelled academically and clinically." You can follow Jeremy Hoeck on Twitter at twitter.com/jhoeck

The office of County Treasurer J.J. Goetz will start the annual tax sale of property in the county on Monday but it is not known exactly how many descriptions will be offered in the sale. Since the publication of the delinquent tax list in official newspapers of the county, some 70 descriptions have been taken off the list through payment of the tax due.

East River deer hunting success is expected to be high this year although it may run a little lower than last year's 86 percent hunter success, the state Game, Fish and Parks department said Saturday. Yankton JV's fell to the Volin Bluejays here Saturday night 54 to 32. Volin led 26 to 12, at halftime. Leman Olson with 15 and Ron Freng with 11 were the top scorers for Volin while Dean Shoemaker and John Thompson tallied six each for Yankton.

The city of Menno will no longer be involved in the sale of liquor, neither on-off-sale, as the result of a special election held Tuesday. "As of December 31, our liquor license expires and we won't be able to renew it," said Don Woehl, city treasurer. Menno residents voted on two liquor measures — whether to renew the city's off-sale license and whether to renew the on-sale license. "Both were voted out" Woehl said. Show-and-tell is an important activity for kindergartners of Sacred Heart School. Recently, Tommy Hoebelheirich, 5 asked his dad, Ken, if he could bring one of his tools to school for show-and-tell. He did this week, and it was more than a hammer. Ken brought a dynamite, which can lift up to 5,000 pounds to a height of 39 feet. Kindergartners are impressed by the maneuvers Tommy's dad can perform with the machine.
