from the Bible's Book of Revelation to hail the Second Coming. Cash, as close to the voice of God as you'll get, goes out strong right until the end. "The whirlwind is in the thorn tree/It's hard for thee to kick against the pricks."

4. The End of the World, Skeeter Davis (1962). The question Davis asked in her plaintive soprano — "Why do the birds go on singing?/Why do the stars glow above/Don't they know it's the end of the world?" — was about the aftermath of a broken romance. But to a planet that just a month earlier had been holding its collective breath over the Cuban Missile Crisis, the lyrics resonated in a different way.

3. The Merry Minuet, Kingston Trio (1959). A jolly ode to man's inhumanity to man: "The whole world is festering with unhappy souls/The French hate the Germans, the Germans hate the Poles/Italians hate Yugoslavs/South Africans hate the Dutch/And I don't like anybody very much!" But don't worry, help is on the way: "For man's been endowed with a mushroom shaped cloud/And we know for certain that some lovely day/someone will set the spark off and we will all be blown away."

2. It's the End of the World As We Know It (And I Feel Fine), R.E.M. (1987). Michael Stipe's chipper tumble of words begins, "That's great, it starts with an earthquake, birds and snakes, an aeroplane." And by the time you finish singing along four minutes and seven seconds later you'll be so breathless the end of the world will feel like blessed relief.

1. Real Thing, WBEN (1953). At the height of the Cold War, Buffalo radio station WBEN had one of its announcers cut a record that the DJ could slap on the turntable if he saw a mushroom cloud outside the station: "We interrupt our normal program to cooperate in security and in civil defense measures as requested by the United States government

... Normal broadcasting will now be discontinued for an indefinite period..." Happily, it was never used, but Bear Family Records found a copy a few years ago and included in the CD box set "Atomic Platters: Cold War Music From The Golden Age Of Homeland Security." Not too danceable, but it's great for makeout sessions if your honey is a nihilist or necrophiliac.

Anyway, good luck on Friday. Normal newspaper feature-writing will now be discontinued for an indefinite period.

terworks with a heartbreaking breast-cancer story line that coaxed Emmy-caliber performances from Monica Potter and Peter Krause. Where other shows might have come across as mawkishly heavy handed, "Parenthood" brought emotional depth and an eye for detail to the subject. Fortunately, the series also continued to find ways to display a sense of humor amid the poignancy. Along those lines, Ray Romano proved to be a great addition as a grouchy photographer with a crush on Lauren Graham.

8. "Louie" (FX) — Season 3 of this idiosyncratic comedy featured a little more continuity and cohesiveness than usual, but creatorstar-writer Louis C.K. still took joy in defying convention and taking us to unexpected places as his lonely hangdog character embarked on compelling journeys of self-discovery. "Louie" is that unique little gem that can be bleak, yet sweet, and sad, yet gut-bustingly hilarious. And this season, the gem gave off even more of a shine, thanks, in part, to notable guest turns by Parker Posey, Jerry Seinfeld, Melissa Leo, Sarah Silverman, David Lynch and others.

Lynch and others. 9. "Game of Thrones" (HBO) — Sometimes we just need the small screen to whisk away from humdrum everyday life to big imaginary worlds full of mystery and mysticism, spectacle and scope. So we continue to thank the TV gods for blessing us with this massive medieval fantasy. "Thrones" can feel unwieldy at times with its multitude of power-hungry characters and tangled storylines. But when it's at its best — as with the extraordinary "Blackwater" episode — I gladly lap up every bit of its epic awesomeness and visual majesty.

10. "New Girl" (Fox) — What started out looking like a sitcom mainly tied to the perky-quirky charms of Zooey Deschanel has become an exceptional ensemble piece, thanks to the efforts of Max Greenfield, Jake Johnson and Lamorne Morris, each of whom brings his own specific comedic style to the party. Fortified with great chemistry, the entire cast in an irresistible force, spouting goofy oneliners that put us in constant crack-up mode. They're superweird and unpredictable yet very relatable.
