dle school players who will move over once their season ends after Christmas and Brooks should have enough cards to deal. "We're young, we have a lot of young kids, so we will expect some of them to play a big role," Brooks said. "It's competitive. We don't have a lot of kids out there, but it's competitive freshmen through seniors. "Last year we only had one senior which hurt our numbers because that class was low and this year we only have two sophomores.

Our freshmen class is pretty big with having eight freshmen. They are a pretty good group.' Peters acknowledges that Vermillion basketball hasn't been known for having tremendous height on the girls' side. She does believe that they have the grit to make up for it. "We are aggressive," "The state tournament last year. Brooks agrees that this season anything could hap-head and shoulders above everybody else," he said. "It's going to be even, it's going to be a battle. Our conference is tough and I may be biased but it's the best conference in our class. Tri-Valley, Dell Rapids are top five, top 10 teams. It's a competitive league."

The Tanagers believe they are ready for anything. "We're ready for anything and Coach Brooks knows what to tell us to do," Gregoire said. "We are usually faster than other teams and we play the in and out game among Class B competitors in this statistic. Her ability to get to the ball and turn most plays into an opportunity for our hitters made her a real asset. Further, Josie was an important part of our game at the service line as she led us VanBockern averaged just over 13 kills per match offensively and made herself a valuable part of the defense, as well. She tallied 3.77 digs and 1.57 blocks per match for the Cardinals. "Kimberly VanBockern played middle hitter for us Boeck said. "In her three years as a contributor to our team, she became a very powerful force at the net. She is a great jumper with quick feet who could put up a block anywhere, and she saw the other side of the court very well, allowing her to place a hit where the defense was not set up. This combination of physical ability and her volleyball IQ propelled her to the top of our team's, as well as the Class B's, hitting statistics this season.'

Joining the five state tournament participants on this year's first team was Northwestern standout Jordon Peterson.

A veteran of a Wildcat team that spent the bulk of the season ranked second in and Lake Region Conference rival Warner, Peterson led her squad to a 26-5 record this season. Of those five losses, four came against the Monarchs and one to Class A state champion Sioux Falls Christian. Peterson finished the season averaging 15.6 kills, 3.54 digs and .55 blocks per match. "Jordon Peterson completely transformed herself into a dominant player over the past four seasons," said Northwestern head coach Nora Groft. "I am very proud of the hard work she put in during the off-season to make her a much stronger, more dynamic player in the front the state behind District 2B since her sophomore year,"
