double digits the rest of the night. The final margin was the closest Minnesota came since the score was 24-10. Out of control on the fast break, outthrusted for loose balls and outshot from the perimeter and in the paint, the Gophers looked a lot more like the team with the lesser resources than the Jackrabbits. Minnesota only committed nine turnovers, another sign that South Dakota State was the stronger squad. The Gophers will be glad to be done with the Summit League portion of their schedule. They also barely beat Omaha 93-90 at home Nov. 27. Reed Tellinghuisen had 14 points and 11 rebounds for the Jackrabbits, whose only loss was 64-57 to Kansas City. The Gophers beat the Kangaroos 76-58. South Dakota State, which has two Minnesotans on its roster, including starting forward Ian Theisen, shot 30 for 61 from the floor. The Jackrabbits led by as much as 66-42 early in the second half. Joey King, who began the day tied for fourth in the Big Ten in scoring at 17.1 points per game, had just five points. S. DAKOTA ST. 84, MINNESOTA 70 Nov. 27. Yankton ran away with the victory in their next dual against Lincoln 58-18, pinning seven, and only dropping three matches. The final dual against Washington was another close dual for the Bucks, as they took a 30-6 lead after six matches, and saw Washington storm back to make it 42-30. With two matches left, the Warriors were in striking distance, but Yankton's JC Holton, normally a JV wrestler, lasted the entire match for losing decision against Dalton Sobotka that clinched a victory by putting the score out of reach.

Yankton's Spencer Huber tries to turn Lennox's Mitchell Messersmith during their 132-pound match, part of a wrestling quadrangular on Tuesday at the Summit Center. Huber got the pin in 1:48, helping the Bucks to a sweep of the event.

With two three-point victories, Smith believed the Lennox dual was the more difficult of the two. "Lennox has really come around the last few years, Washington, they always put up a competitive team, it's tough between the two," Smith said. "That Lennox one had a little bit more strategy to it that made it a little more difficult. "Overall, I can't speak enough about our team, every day I am impressed with my wrestlers." In between the Lincoln and Washington duals, Huber was recognized and received a standing ovation from the crowd for breaking the Yankton career wins record of 145 last Saturday in Watertown. "I didn't know they were going to do anything special," Huber said. "That was nice, it feels great to break records." With three more wins Tuesday, Huber is up to 149.

Yankton finished first in the dual at 3-0, Lennox finished second at 2-1, Washington finished third at 1-2, and Lincoln finished fourth at 0-3. Yankton's next event will be on Thursday in Brandon, where they will face Brandon, Dakota Valley, and Vermillion.
