VERMILLION — The Vermillion community is mourning the passing of Wayne S. Knutson, a man who made his mark on the city and university as well as the state.
It is fitting to pay tribute as today bears his name in South Dakota.
“... Whereas Wayne has inspired, mentored, and stood as an example to South Dakotans for half a century through his sterling gifts as teacher, artist, consultant, wise counselor and friend: Now, therefore, I, William J. Janklow, Governor of the State of South Dakota do hereby proclaim December 11, 1999, as Wayne S. Knutson Day in South Dakota and I join his many friends across the state in celebrating the naming of the main stage theater in the Warren M. Lee Center for the Fine Arts at the University of South Dakota as the Wayne S. Knutson

Historic Holiday Flair

Cramer-Kenyon Home
Opens Its Doors
For The Holidays
This Weekend

BY RANDY DOCKENDORF

This year, Veronica Trezona’s residence has taken on a simpler look for Christmas.
Then again, “simpler” still means elegant when you live in the historic Cramer-Kenyon Heritage Home.
The 1886 house stands at 509 Pine Street in Yankton. Trezona resides in the original “servant’s quarters” as caretaker for the home, which dates back to Dakota Territory days.
“It was the tallest Queen Anne (style building) in the territory when it was built,” she said.
Besides maintaining the home, she offers tours from Memorial Day to Labor Day with other times by appointment.
Now, visitors don’t need to wait until next spring to tour the home.
In the holiday spirit, the Cramer-Kenyon board of directors is offering its annual Holiday Tours and Open Houses at the historic Eastlake Stick Style home. The public is welcome to attend the event, set for 5-7 p.m. tonight (Friday) and 1-4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.
The annual event is free. However, donations will be accepted. Visitors can enter either the front or rear door. Parking can be found in the back lot, and the kitchen entrance offers a lift for those with difficulty walking up the stairs.
Cramer-Kenyon board members will greet visitors, who can also meet Trezona. The hosts will serve beverages and homemade cookies as part of the holiday atmosphere. Children are welcome, but good behavior is expected.
No reservations are needed. Visitors are encouraged to bring their cameras, as the home is always camera-ready.
“We are dedicating this weekend to Margaret Lyons, our (board) treasurer who recently died,” Trezona said. “All of the money donated will be in her name.”

A SIMPLER LOOK

This weekend’s open house will offer something new even for previous visitors, Trezona said.

Yankton’s Cramer-Kenyon Heritage Home, located at 509 Pine Street, is spruced up for the holidays and open to visitors this weekend, starting tonight (Friday). The 1886 territorial home features several Christmas trees and several dashes of holiday flavor, as well as the stately preservation of history. Visitation hours are 5-7 p.m. tonight and 1-4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.
