Earlier this season, McKendree University coach Harry Statham notched his 1000th win at the NAIA powerhouse in Lebanon, Ill. The only other member of the 1,000-win club is Tennessee women's coach Pat Summitt.

Voog earned Class B All-State second-team honors last year and is on pace to repeat that at the end of this season. He also earned the Class B Academic All-State Award for football as a senior and is a strong candidate to do the same at the end of the basketball season this year.

Off the court in Centerville, Voog is a part of a number of community service organizations through his church and FFA chapter.

While attending South Dakota School of Mines, Voog plans to take up Mechanical Engineering.

Miracle Girls Win In OT In Regular Season Finale

SIOUX FALLS — In a back and forth game, Yankton girls' junior varsity team pulled out a 6-5 win in overtime against in Sioux Falls on Monday.

Kendra Nelsen scored the winning goal five minutes and 23 seconds into overtime and Alysha Watzel and Annelise Curran.

The goal gave Nelsen a hat trick as she scored Yankton's first goal of the game and also one one in the third period to put the Miracle up 5-4.

Watzel had four assists in the win. Curran had two goals to go along with her assist. Mikayla Waggoner had a goal in the first period and Mishaela Pokorny had an assist on one of Curran's goals.

Yankton started with a 1-0 lead, but the game was tied at 2-2 at the end of the first period. Sioux Falls had a 4-2 lead in the second period before Curran scored two goals to tie it at 4-4.

Nelson put Yankton ahead before Sioux Falls' Susan Richards completed a hat trick with 2:05 left to tie the game up and send it into overtime before Nelson ended it.

Yankton had 35 shots on goal and Sioux Falls had 25.

and defended us well, and we didn't respond well," Thorson said. "We went long stretches without scoring, and Northwestern is too good of an offensive team for that."

The Lancers were also without third-leading scorer Justin Peters in that game, who Thorson said makes a difference in any game.

"He helps out offensively and defensively for us," he said. "When he is aggressive, he really helps out rebounding, and it just gives us better depth when he is in the line-up."

Mount Marty will have the chance to keep it's recent "high octane" offense going since Northwestern has the worst scoring defense in the GPAC after giving up an average of 81.4 points per game.

Thorson said one of the keys for the Lancers against Northwestern is getting off to a good start, which has hindered the team the past few games.

"Pretty much the month of February, we haven't gotten off to good starts," he said. "We start off methodical and not moving our feet and dig ourselves into a hole. Some games we get over it, but it's hard to get over that initial bump."

If the Lancers are able to beat Northwestern, Mount Marty would travel to Sioux Falls to meet up against USF, which MMC knocked off when the Cougars were the top team in the GPAC earlier in the year.

Mount Marty's game against Northwestern In Orange City will tip-off at 7 p.m.

MMC

they must advance to a championship game against Hastings — or win the tournament outright — to earn a return trip to the NAIA Division II Tournament in Sioux City, Iowa.

"We don't consider ourselves dead in the water," Schlimgen said. "We'll play one game at a time, see where we're going to go."

MMC opens the GPAC Tournament against Dakota Wesleyan tonight (Tuesday) at Laddie E. Cimpl Arena. While the Lancers notched victories of 71-54 and 70-45 against the Tigers, they are still not to be taken lightly.

"They've always been one of our big rivals. We can't sit back and expect to win," said senior guard Michelle Amundson. "They played Hastings to a very good game last week (57-46 Hastings), so they won't give up easy."

The winner of Tuesday's game will play at Northwestern Thursday. The Raiders swept MMC, 81-68 and 67-60, but the Lancers were in both contests.

"If we do win Tuesday, we're excited about playing Northwestern," Amundson said. "Both games, we could have beaten them, but we couldn't finish up. Hopefully we give them a tough run and end up winning."

While the Lancers could potentially face three nationally-ranked teams in the span of five days, they need to be focused on the immediate future, according to Schlimgen.

"Attitude and effort are the two main ingredients, and lately we've added the word "confident" to that mix," he said. "We need to play confident and stay focused, do what we're good at doing."

Four first-round games are being held tonight, with four quarterfinals set for Thursday. Semifinal games will be played on Saturday, with the championship set for Tuesday, March 2.

The tournament champion will receive the league's second automatic berth into the NAIA Division II Tournament. Should Hastings, which received a berth as the regular season champion, win the tournament, the tournament runner-up receives the second bid.

The NAIA Division II Tournament will be played March 10-16 at Sioux City, Iowa.

NOTE: Due to tonight's game being a Great Plains Athletic Conference event, MMC season passes and student tickets will not be accepted for admission.*
