Hall Of Fame Still Sinking In For Chris Doleman

EDEN PRAIRIE, Minn. (AP) -When Chris Doleman got the news that he was headed to the Pro Football Hall of Fame, he said he went numb and didn't hear the names of the players who were called after him.

It still hasn't sunk in nearly a week later.

"I'm still trying to get a feel for what all this means," the former Minnesota Vikings defensive end said Thursday. "You really can't get your arms around it.

Doleman spent 10 of his 15 NFL seasons in Minnesota, including the first nine after the Vikings drafted him in the first round out of Pittsburgh in 1985. He also played two vears in Atlanta and three in San Francisco before coming back to end his career with the Vikings in 1999

Doleman is fourth on the NFL's career list with 150 1/2 sacks. He had 21 in 1989, the Vikings' singleseason record until this season when Jared Allen broke it in the final game.

"He was the type of player who took over games, dominated games," said Paul Wiggin, who was Doleman's first defensive line coach with the Vikings.

Doleman was drafted as a linebacker, but made the switch to defensive end in his second season. Playing on a line with Keith Millard, Henry Thomas and Al Noga, Doleman flourished, using an uncommon combination of size and speed to overwhelm offensive tackles.

"If you've got a goose that lays golden eggs, you don't mess with the goose," Wiggin said. "This guy had wonderful skills and I learned more from him than he ever learned from me because he had the ability to do so many things that were special.'

Doleman had at least 11 sacks in eight seasons and even had an impressive eight in his final year in the league at the age of 38.

When I moved to that position, it felt like home," he said.

But it took Doleman seven years of eligibility before he finally got the call for Canton. He was a semifinalist in his first few years of eligibility, was not among the finalists considered last year in Dallas, then finally broke through this year in Indianapolis.

"I know that I appreciate it more now than I would have appreciated it when I was, let's just say 38 or 40 years old," said Doleman, who will turn 51 in October. "You're just much more mature. You know what all this means and you know where you're going in your life.'

His 21-year-old son Evan will introduce him at the induction ceremony in August, and both have been trying to get a handle on the enormity of the event.

Chris Doleman said that it's been a whirlwind ever since he got the news on Saturday. He's been flying around the country to various planning meetings, doing interviews until his voice wouldn't work anymore and trying to figure out who will be on the guest list.

And then there were the phone calls, emails and text messages he received on Saturday night.

"It was like your phone goes into some type of convulsion," he said.

Doleman expects to one day be joined by Vikings teammate Cris Carter, who was not voted in after being named a finalist for the fourth year in a row.

"I feel sorry for those guys. I really do," Doleman said of Carter and others who did not make it. "I was there.

He said he doesn't think the voting committee is easily swayed. But then again, he's never lobbied for someone as a member of the Hall before LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) - Carmen Reynolds matched her season high with 16 points and Michigan capitalized on Nebraska's abysmal shooting to upset the 13th-ranked Cornhuskers 63-52 on Thursday night.

Michigan (18-7, 7-5 Big Ten) led 32-12 at half after going on a 26-3 run and holding the Huskers without a field goal for just over 14 minutes.

The 12 first-half points were the fewest by a Top 25 team against an unranked opponent since then-No. 9 California scored 11 against Oregon State in February 2008, according to STATSLIC

Nebraska (19-4, 8-3) shot 26 percent but looked like it would make a game of it late. Michigan was up by 27 points early in the second half, but a spate of turnovers allowed the Huskers to cut it to eight with 2:01 left.

Courtney Boylan added 14 points, Rachel Sheffer 13 and Nya Jordan 11 for Michigan. Lindsey Moore had 23 points for Nebraska

Men UMKC 72, NORTH DAKOTA STATE 61:

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - Reggie Chamberlain scored 27 points, including four 3-pointers, to help UMKC snap a three-game losing streak with a surprising 72-61 win Thursday night over North Dakota State.

Chamberlain, who came in averaging 17.0 points per game, was 10 of 14 from the field and finished three points shy of his career high. Kirk Korver added 11 points for the Kangaroos (10-16, 4-10 Summit), who never trailed and shot 52 percent from the field.

Taylor Braun had 13 points and Drew Lundberg scored 10 for the Bison (15-9, 8-6).

UMKC scored the game's first five points and cruised from there. In the first half, back-toback 3-pointers from Mike Felt and Braun cut the Kangaroos' lead to 27-19, but Chamberlain followed with a jumper and the Bison never got within single digits again.

UMKC led by as many as 23 in the second half before a late North Dakota State run.

NORTH DAKOTA 75, CHICAGO STATE 69: CHICAGO (AP) - Troy Huff scored 25 points and North Dakota won on the road for the first time all season, beating Chicago State 75-69 Thursday night.

Patrick Mitchell added 17 points and Aaron Anderson scored 11 for the Sioux (11-12, 3-3 Great West), who entered the game 0-11 away from home. North Dakota shot 50 percent from the field in the game and 64 percent in the second half. Huff had five of his team's 10 3-pointers.

Lee Fisher scored 18 points to lead Chicago State (2-21, 1-5). Ardarius Simmons had 14 points and Matt Samuels contributed 13 points and a game-high eight rebounds for the Cougars

North Dakota won the schools' earlier meeting 71-61 on Jan. 28 in Grand Forks, N.D.

No. 21 WISCONSIN 68, MINNESOTA 61, OT: MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - Freshman point guard Andre Hollins gave Minnesota his best game of the season, guiding a spirited comeback with a career-high 20 points against No. 21 Wisconsin.

The performance was missing something, though, and that was a win.

Jordan Taylor scored 27 points for his first college win in his home state, and the Badgers gutted out a 68-61 overtime victory Thursday niaht.

The Badgers (19-6, 8-4 Big Ten) failed to score over the last 7 1/2-plus minutes of the second half while the Gophers (17-8, 5-7) dug out of a 13-point hole. But Hollins missed his big chance for the winner at the end of regulation.

NORTHWESTERN 83, IOWA 64: EVANSTON, III. (AP) — Freshman Dave Sobolewski scored a season-high 23 points, John Shurna added 17 and Northwestern won its third straight, beating Iowa 83-64 on Thursday night.

Reggie Hearn added 16 points, and all five starters scored in double figures for the Wildcats (15-8, 5-6 Big Ten) in an easy victory.

Northwestern built a nine-point halftime lead and then blew this one open, matching its longest conference winning streak since a three-game run late in the 2008-09 season.

Sobolewski passed his previous high by three points. Shurna set the tone in the early going, and the Wildcats shot just over 56 percent overall while hitting 13 of 25 3-pointers.

Aaron White led Iowa with 17 points and 12 rebounds, but the Hawkeyes (13-12, 5-7) were simply overmatched.
