you saw (Thursday), they're hard to stop."

Stopping the Bison was a problem, especially in the final 20 minutes, for the Coyotes in that first meeting. Up by five at halftime, NDSU used a 24-8 run to start the second half to pull away.

"We didn't play well in the second half against them, so we'll have to try to change that," Boots said. "I'm sure they'll try to do some of those same things against us.

Vikings Say New Ramsey Stadium Plan Unworkable*BY ALEXANDRA TEMPUS

Associated Press

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — A Minnesota Vikings spokesman said Friday that team owners don't like a new proposal to fund a $1 billion stadium in the Twin Cities suburbs using ticket fees and other game-related charges.

The latest proposal floated by several Ramsey County commissioners was meant to replace a previous stadium financing plan that relied on a county food and liquor sales tax. Instead, it would draw $20.6 million annually from stadium user fees, an admissions surcharge, a stadium sales tax and parking lot naming rights.

The county board said the plan would generate $618 million over 30 years.

Lester Bagley, the Vikings vice president for stadium development, called the plan problematic. While Vikings owners have favored the Ramsey County site in the community of Arden Hills over options in downtown Minneapolis, Bagley said a prior agreement between the Vikings and Ramsey County hinged on the team receiving parking revenue and naming rights — and on the condition of no admissions taxes.

"When you change those things you change the underlying agreement between the team and the county," Bagley said. "We need to refine it because of those reasons."

Ramsey County Commissioner Tony Bennett had called the new plan a "game changer" after meeting with Gov. Mark Dayton on Friday. He later acknowledged the Vikings may not like elements of the new plan.

Dayton did not comment specifically on details of the new plan, but praised Ramsey County leaders for remaining consistent in their stadium efforts. He contrasted that with city council members in Minneapolis, who have been reluctant to throw full support behind a new stadium there.

"They all sit on the sidelines and carp about everything," Dayton said. Later, he added: "They don't have ... the proper perspective on what's best for all of Minneapolis."

when you get in foul trouble. Later on, that puts them in the bonus."

Yankton also won the rebounding battle with 43 rebounds, including eight from Connor Vlasman, to just 27 rebounds for the Golden Eagles.

Central was led by Aaron Lorenz with 16 points and Brady Mohr with eight.

Seitzinger topped the Bucks with 25 points and Rucker added 10.

"I thought our effort defensively was pretty good," said Likness. "Keeping Aberdeen off the boards was a big plus for us. It's been a long season for us in terms of wins and losses. This is only our third win but our kids have never quit and tonight we finally finished and got a win."

Aberdeen Central steps away from ESD play in its next action playing at Sioux Falls Roosevelt on Tuesday. Yankton hosts Watertown today in an ESD contest.

Yankton and Aberdeen Central split the sub-varsity matchups on Friday.

The Yankton junior varsity team claimed a 63-60 victory over the Golden Eagles. Zach Benjamin led with 20 points for Yankton and JJ Hejna added 14 points.

The sophomore Bucks won 47-31. Ryan Olson ended the game with 17 points, and Brady Hale contributed 14 points.

In freshman 'A' team action the Aberdeen Central Golden Eagles beat Yankton 47-35. Brady Hale scored 16 points and Austin Johnson added eight points.

In freshman 'B' action the Bucks lost a 63-62 double-overtime thriller. John Dannenbring had 16 points and Mitch Schlingman added 12 points.

what the background is," Phillips said. "Can it creep in your head? Definitely. But the dome is probably closer to the BSA than a lot of places we play."

Saying that he believes USD is "much, much better" then what it showed in Fargo, Phillips said he fully expects the Coyotes to come out with much of the same energy they showed Thursday against SDSU.

"We're walking into a hornet's nest," he said. "The enthusiasm is probably as high as it's been in the transition for them. We know it'll be a hostile environment, so how we handle that will determine our success."
