A VARIETY OF CAST EXPERIENCES

Besides Lafferty, the MMC cast brings an interesting mix of stage and life experiences to the stage. As a senior, Lisa Keogh will make her last MMC stage appearance before graduating this spring, Henrickson said.

"Lisa has been seen (on our stage) several times, in 'Rabbit Hole,' 'Once Upon a Mattress' and 'Almost Maine," he said. "She advanced to the semi-final round of the 2012 Kennedy Center American College Theatre Festival and the Irene Ryan Acting Scholarship competition in Ames (Iowa).

"Porchlight" will also bring new faces to the MMC stage: freshmen Raegan Layher, Megan Turner and Peter Shepherd, as well as senior Haley Lind and junior Piper Wegener, who have appeared in shows over the years.

The cast members must play characters 10 to 20 years older than themselves, except for the greatgranddaughter role where the actress plays someone 10 years younger.

The cast has also worked on developing Southern accents for the play, Henrickson said. However, the cast members must also be understood by the audience.

'My mom is blind, and for past productions I would take her to a rehearsal and ask her opinion (of the dialogue)," he said. "She would tell me if she understood someone well, or if someone was hard to hear, or if an accent didn't go well."

On all fronts, Lafferty has drawn on her life experiences for the role. She joked that she could easily fit into Mama's combative nature.

"I'm from Philadelphia, and our dean of students (Bob Tereshinski) is also from there, and we joke about how arguing is a sport in Philly. No fisticuffs; we just love to argue. We (Philly fans) even booed Santa Claus at a game," she said with a laugh.

Lafferty found she also drew on other life experiences, including her parents' lives. They are about the same age as "Mama," and Lafferty sees her elderly parents with new eyes thanks to the play.

"I pay attention to so many things I took for granted," she said. "This (play) has been a different experience. It's been fun and a great time."

A MESSAGE FOR ALL AGES

Henrickson admits the play faces some time pressures, hitting the stage so early in the semester. Cast members were selected in December so they could learn their lines over Christmas break.

'We're running this show early in the semester for a couple of reasons," he said. "The 'Stations of the Cross' will run March 26, and we are planning a production in the Bistro at the end of April.'

"Porchlight" fits two things that Henrickson sought in a play — a newer work and one with dominant roles for women, given the traditionally few men who audition for MMC plays. "'Porchlight' is 20 years old, so it's relatively new," he said. "My designer, Steve English, knew about the show. I had read about it and knew it would ring true."

While not a musical, "Porchlight" features a great deal of background music from the 1970s, Henrickson

"Throughout the play, Mama hangs on the porch and plays cassettes," he said. "About one-third to one-half of the play has some kind of music. There is a wide assortment of music off all the cassettes.

Henrickson emphasized that, while serious in nature, the play contains no profanity and remains appropriate for all ages. In fact, the play contains themes that fit all generations, he said. He pointed to the same uneasiness often found at all family gatherings, such as the Thanksgiving table.

"In the end, what is the theme of the play? Family is family, and they will be there for each other and support each other, even though it may not be easy," he said. "We can all relate to how families get along with one another. There is the great coming together."

And those emotions are part of life, whether it's in the South or the Midwest, Henrickson said.

"People can relate it to their own family — the good, the bad and the ugly," he said. "I think people will really enjoy the characters. It's not that far away from our own experiences.

The "Porchlight" cast includes Terry Lafferty, Yankton, as Mama Sparks; Lisa Keogh, Yankton, as Dorothy Sparks; Piper Wegener, Humphrey, Neb., as Summer Sparks; Raegan Layher, Douglas, Wyo., as Alice Sparks; Megan Turner, Sioux City, as Corrie Sparks; Haley Lind, Marathon, Iowa, as Greeney Philborne; and Peter B. Shepherd, Cannon Beach, Ore., as Hinton Tar-

The play is under the direction of Andy Henrickson, while the scenery, lighting design and technical aspects are under the direction by Stephen English. Costumes are designed by Dawn Ferris.

The box office is open noon-5 p.m., Monday through Friday, and may be reached by calling (605) 668-1234. The box office is located in the Roncalli building, upper level, across from The Raven.

MEETING MINUTES

YANKTON REGIONAL AVIATION

Forty-six members and guests of the Yankton Regional Aviation Association (YRAA) met on Feb. 17 at 6 p.m. for a potluck supper meeting in the terminal at Chan Gurney Airport. Participants were from Menno, Mission Hill, Springfield, Tyndall, Vermillion, Yankton, Allen, Crofton, Dixon, Hartington, and Randolph.

The meeting was led by President John Lillevold. Roger Huntley showed numerous wood and stone carvings along with tools, and talked about the RiverWalk Sculptures in Yankton. Kelene Fercho talked about a medical study she is conducting concerning upper motor function and recruited YRAA members to participate. Dave Kline completed a 6.5 hour ground school on Mountain Flying at Front Range Airport, Denver. The steel for the new maintenance hangar at Chan Gurney Airport has arrived and construction should be started shortly. Skip VanDerhule talked about the status of South Dakota Senate Bill 224, which was an act to revise and repeal certain aviation laws and to increase some related fees in Title 50 — Aviation. Unfortunately, SB 224 was killed in the Senate. VanDerhule also talked about what to do concerning the receipt of unsolicited "aviation" DVD.

On Feb. 10, a dozen members and guests of the YRAA visited Chris Larson's house in Yankton to see his RV-12 aircraft project. The experimental aircraft project is nearly finished. Chris is completing the final cross check of the construction procedures before moving the plane to the airport for testing.

The next YRAA meeting is set for March 17. For more information about the YRAA, call 665-8448.
