This Mixture Won't Hurt Your Car

BY TOM AND RAY MAGLIOZZI

King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Dear Tom and Ray:

Winter is coming, and I have two gallons of oil/gas mixture (40-to-1) for my weed whacker that I don't want to save for next year or try to dispose of. Is it safe to add this mixture to an almost-full tank of gas in my 2004 Honda Accord? I use 87 octane and live in Cleveland. Thanks! — Jeff

RAY: You live in Cleveland? You may want to just hang on to the gas-oil mixture and buy yourself a snow blower, Jeff.

TOM: Actually, it's fine to use it in your car. It's a relatively small amount of oil (1 part oil to 40 parts gasoline).

RAY: It won't harm the engine, the fuel-injection system or the catalytic converter.

TOM: It's not great for the environment, but, presumably, you would have burned it in your weed whacker anyway, so it's doing no more harm being burned by your car.

RAY: Most of my brother's cars burn more oil than that on their own, due to age and/or disrepair. In fact, some of them burn more oil than gas.

CAR TALK

Tom and Ray Magliozzi

TOM: Keep in mind, you also can save the mixture for next year. Gasoline generally is good for at least a year, these days. You can make it last even longer by adding a small amount of gasoline stabilizer, like Sta-Bil.

RAY: And if you keep it, you also can use it in your lawnmower, your chainsaw, your portable generator or your deluxe gas-powered butt-scratcher, Jeff.

TOM: But if you do decide to power your Accord with this mix, I would do it over several tankfuls, rather than dumping the whole thing in at once. That'll minimize the concentration of oil and ensure that no harm is done.

Changing your oil regularly is the cheapest insurance you can buy for your car, but how often should you change it? Find out by ordering Tom and Ray's pamphlet "Ten Ways You May Be Ruining Your Car Without Even Knowing It!" Send $4.75 (check or money order) to Ruin, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475.

Vegetable Seed Donations Sought For School Gardens

BROOKINGS — Educational gardens are popping up across the state. To assist with these teaching gardening efforts, SDSU Extension seeks seed donations to assist with these projects. Last year, 30 school and youth garden programs across the state received 20 seed packets each from this effort.

The donated seeds are intended only for newly starting and established gardens that offer an educational program.

Eligible projects include gardens for schools, learning centers, daycares, 4-H clubs or other non-profit group in South Dakota, where the produce will be used as part of the program or freely shared with those of need. Qualified projects must include an educational component.

Unopened seed packets with varieties that are appropriate to South Dakota are requested. Vegetable seeds are highest priority, but flower seeds will also be accepted. Certified seed potatoes and onion sets or transplants would also be welcomed in the spring. Ideally, seeds would have been stored in cool, dark conditions where they were not exposed to moisture or temperature extremes or are purchased new for the 2013 growing season. Consider the age of the seeds when donating. Older seeds have reduced germination rates so only donate seeds packaged for 2012 or 2013.

Consider donating to educational garden programs across the state. Deliver or mail seed donations to SDSU Extension Regional Center in Sioux Falls, 2001 E. 8th St., Sioux Falls, SD 57103. Attn: Chris Zdorovtsov.

If you are interested in receiving donated seeds, call the SDSU Extension Regional Center in Sioux Falls after Jan. 14 for an application. An application notice will also be sent on the SDSU Youth Gardening LISTSERV in January. To join the LISTSERV or for additional information on this project, contact Chris Zdorovtsov, Community Development Field Specialist, at 782-3290 or at Christina.Zdorovtsov@sd-state.edu.

DENR Offers Public Notice Page

PIERRE — The South Dakota Department of Environment and Natural Resources (DENR) has added a one-stop public notices page to its website at <http://denr.sd.gov/public>. The webpage consolidates every currently-active department public notice to a single webpage.

The webpage includes links to active public notices for department activities involving air quality, Brownfields, concentrated animal feeding operations, state revolving fund intended use plans, general permits, ground water discharge, mining, oil and gas, proposed rules, surface water discharge, solid and hazardous waste, water rights, and total maximum daily loads.

The webpage also provides for online commenting by interested individuals for certain public notices. Anyone can subscribe to be notified weekly by email when public notices are added to the webpage.

Spring Semester Courses Beginning February 5th

Stained Glass Creations with Sr. Kathleen Courtney

Tuesdays, February 5, 12, 19 (3 sessions/2 hrs each)

10:00 AM - noon | Monastery Conf. Rm 217/218 | Limit 8 Participants

Stained glass making: a hands-on workshop for those interested in creating art objects using stained glass. Glass and glue the hours away! Create a stained glass project to give to a loved one or to create an environment of peace and delight in your home. Exercise the creativity and artist in you. Bring an open heart, as sense of humor, and a little patience. (Cost of materials: $20.)

The Middle East: Historical Roots of the Modern Political Scene with Dr. Tim Schorn, University of South Dakota

Tuesdays, February 5, 12, 19 (3 sessions/2 hrs each)

2:00 PM - 4:00 PM | Roncalli Rm 114

Dr. Schorn is an expert on the Middle East where he has traveled and studied extensively. He will present a mix of historical developments and the contemporary milieu that the western world is trying to comprehend and judge fairly.

Consumerization of Information Technologies with Ed Koster

Thursdays, February 7, 14, 21, 28

6 PM - 7:30 PM | Bede Rm 115 | Limit 12 participants

The mainstream adoption of "cool" new tablet devices like the Apple iPad and smart phone technology is finally delivering on the promise that the information technology revolution has been touting for years - literally making information available at one's fingertips. Of course this phase of technology is not without peril. It can leave many wondering how these devices work, what the benefits are, and how fearful one gets of being left behind as more and more people adopt them. We will have plain language discussions and examples of how using these items can make life easier. Bring your iPhones and iPads.

The Poor Person's Bible with Fr. Thomas Wordekemper

Thursdays, February 7, 14, 21 with field trip on Feb. 28 (10 AM - 3 PM)

10:15 AM - 11:45 AM | Roncalli Rm 114

This class will look at symbols and stories in the stained glass windows, statuary and architecture of our Christian churches. We will study these treasures of art and faith in our local churches, especially, but not limited to, the Catholic churches. A field trip to some of the local churches in Yankton County and Cedar County in Nebraska will be planned so that we can see and study firsthand these treasures in area churches.

Acting, Improvisation, & Creative Dramatics with Andrew Henrickson

Thursdays, February 7, 14, 21, 28

12:45 PM - 2:15 PM | Roncalli Rm 114/Marian Auditorium

Always wanted to act and been too shy? Never in a play, so is it on your bucket list? Finally, a chance to act! Mr. Henrickson will help you find that hidden thespian within you. Here's a chance to be a bit reckless and carefree! Mr. Henrickson will get you on your feet as you are introduced to the basics of acting, using creative drama exercises as a foundational tool.

Genealogy Research on the Internet with James Bacorn

Tuesdays, February 5, 12, 19, 26

4:15 PM - 5:45 PM | Bede Rm 115 | Limit 12 participants

Always wanted to get the history of your family? Jim Bacorn has spent many years working on his family tree, and is willing to share all his secrets with you. Build your family tree and use resources (ie: social media and both free and fee-based websites) to validate and add information to it. Bring your computer/laptop.
