and graduated from Scotland High School in 1964. He worked at a couple different jobs during and after high school before beginning a life-long career at the Scotland Redi-Mix. He continued working there until July 2012 having dedicated four and a half decades of service. At the Redi-Mix, Jim spent his time performing many tasks such as master mechanic, truck driver, batch mixer and bookkeeper. Jim was an avid mechanic on the side as well and enjoyed spending time tinkering with and fixing accident-engaged vehicles. Much of Jim's time was spent seeking out the perfect purchase, whether it was a car, boat or firearm. Jim enjoyed spending time with his friends traveling to other towns to shop firearm tradeshows where he often engaged in purchasing, selling or trading with vendors. Jim enjoyed attending High School sporting events such as football and especially basketball games. Jim was a very spiritual man who loved his Lord. He was an active member of St. George's Catholic Church and a member of the Knights of Columbus. Jim spent 46 years as a major part of the Scotland Volunteer Fire Department where he spent 16 prestigious years as the Fire Chief. Jim enjoyed fishing and hunting and countless trips to Lake Henry just to see if anything was biting. He also enjoyed trapshooting on a local trap league at the Scotland Sportsman's Club where he was a member for 40 plus years and spent many years on a Scotland bowling team. Jim was well known throughout the Scotland community where he was born and raised. His endless smile will be dearly missed.

Jim died peacefully on Thursday, January 10, 2013 at the Scotland Good Samaritan Center in Scotland, South Dakota, having attained the age of 66 years, 1 month and 29 days.

Jim's memory will live forever in the hearts of his mother, Adeline Cisar of Scotland; his nephews, Patrick (Jennifer), To-pher (Amy) and Jon; his great-nephew, Hudson; his great-nieces, Hannah, Hailey, Hadyson, Georgia and Caroline; his sister-in-law, Barb Cisar of Scotland; his aunt Vesta Blachnik of Sioux Falls and numerous cousins. He is also survived by a multitude of lifelong community friends of which some would even consider him as an extended part of their family.

Jim was preceded in death by his father, Charles Cisar in 1985 and his brother Don Cisar in 2010.

Free Self-Publishing Workshop To Be Offered In Tyndall Jan. 19

TYNDALL — The Art & Antique Gallery at 1610 Main Street in Tyndall will offer a free self-publishing workshop from 1:30-3:30 p.m. on Saturday, Jan. 19. The event will help area authors learn more about options for self-publishing their work.

The workshop will be facilitated by Loretta Sorensen of Yankton's Prairie Hearth Publishing, LLC. Sorensen has assisted six regional authors in producing book length works. She will address both the process and cost of self-publishing, including the how-to of producing a Kindle version of a book, listing books with Amazon.com, promotion and marketing, etc.

"Self-publishing can be especially gratifying for any writer," Sorensen says. "Obtaining a contract to publish a work with a large publishing house has never been an easy task. If an author wants to preserve their work for family and friends or start with a self-published work and learn more about how to successfully promote their writing skill, this workshop will help them identify their options."

Self-publishing has gained more interest in recent years and is quickly becoming a viable option for first-time authors. It also offers an opportunity for authors to learn more about the complex structure of today's book publishing industry.

Interested persons are asked to contact Sorensen at sorensenlms@gmail.com or 605-660-0378 or the Art & Antique Gallery at 605-589-4050 or dakotaprairie@hcinet.net to register for the event.

2012 elections — $16.8 million through its political action committee and nearly $7.5 million through its affiliated Institute for Legislative Action. Separately, the NRA spent some $4.4 million through July 1 to lobby Congress. Keene insists the group represents its members and not just the gun manufacturers, though he said the NRA would like industry to contribute more money to the association.

"We know what works and what doesn't work. And we're not willing to compromise on people's rights when there is no evidence that doing so is going to accomplish the purpose," Keene said.

The NRA, instead, is pushing for measures that would keep guns out of the hands of the mentally ill, until a person gets better. "If they are cured, there ought to be a way out of it," Keene said.

Currently, a person is banned from buying a gun from a licensed dealer if the person is a fugitive, a felon, convicted of substance abuse, convicted of domestic violence, living in the U.S. illegally or someone who "has been adjudicated as a mental defective or has been committed to any mental institution."

States, however, are inconsistent in providing information about mentally ill residents to the federal government for background checks. And, the Brady Campaign to Prevent Gun Violence said some 40 percent of gun sales happen with no background checks, such as at gun shows and by private sellers over the Internet or through classified ads.

Else Reinschmidt

Else Reinschmidt, age 89, of Yankton, South Dakota, died Friday, January 11, 2013 at Avera Sister James Care Center in Yankton.

Funeral services are 10:30 a.m. on Tuesday, January 15, 2013, at St. John's Lutheran Church with Reverend David Gunderson officiating. Burial will be in the ZCJB Cemetery, Wagner, South Dakota, at a later date.

The family will receive friends one hour prior to the funeral service at the church. Arrangements are under the direction of the Wintz & Ray Funeral Home and Cremation Service in Yankton.

Pallbearers are James Eggers, Paul Eggers, David Reinschmidt, Jerome Radack, Charles Zacharias and Dennis Merkwan.

Else Reinschmidt was born August 28, 1923, in Struer, Denmark. She was born to Carl Axel Valdmar (named after a Danish king) Foght and Anna Foght. She had one brother, Axel Foght, age 85, who emigrated to Canada and presently resides in Victoria, British Columbia.

She attended school at the Struer State Gymnasium, matriculating in May 1942. She then left Struer to work in Copenhagen, Denmark, during the Nazi occupation of Denmark. She initially worked as a nanny in Copenhagen during the summer 1942, but shortly thereafter commenced working for a Danish law firm in Copenhagen. She continued in this position until May 1946.

In May 1946 she was hired by the Civilian Censorship Division of the United States Department of the Army, and she left for the American zone of occupied Germany. Her work focused on American efforts to locate Nazis still within Germany. During her time in Germany from 1946 until 1953, she lived in Esslingen, Frankfurt, Mannheim and Feudenheim. Ultimately, she met and married Harold Reinschmidt, a former GI and Wagnerite who stayed after the European end to the war in May 1945 to also work for the American occupation force.

Harold and Else married on July 16, 1948 in Frankfurt, Germany, by the German mayor of Frankfurt. Harold and Else were then married in Struer, Denmark, in a religious ceremony a few days later. Ultimately, they decided to return to the United States to farm, arriving in Wagner, South Dakota in 1953. They farmed on the river bottom south of Wagner from 1953 until 1991. She and Harold worked extremely hard on the farm and ranch. Starting with land they purchased while still in Germany, they built a farm and ranch in southern Charles Mix County. In 1991, they retired and moved to Yankton.

During their many years as farmers, Else was active in the community, including in her church, St. John's Lutheran Church, VFW Ladies Auxiliary, as well as her eight year term as a Wagner School Board member from 1976-1984.

Else was an avid reader, which she passed on to her children. Else embroidered exquisite pillows and works of art during her lifetime. Else was a classical music enthusiast, loved to sing and could listen to classic saxophone for hours. She was a devoted member of St. John's Lutheran church in Wagner and later St. John's Lutheran church in Yankton. She played piano at home, sang in the church choir and also was a member of the bell choir. Besides her family Else had three passions: playing bridge, gardening and loving her little Scottish Terrier, Mac.

Survivors include her husband, Harold Reinschmidt of Yankton; two children: Barbara (Dr. Charles) Yelverton of Vermillion, SD and David Reinschmidt of Burbank, SD; one granddaughter, Nikita Reinschmidt of Burbank, SD; brother, Axel Foght of Victoria, British Columbia and his children, Carl (JoAnne) Foght of Calgary, Alberta and Julia (David Robinson) Foght of Edmonton, Alberta.

She was preceded in death by her parents.

Memorials may be directed to St. John's Lutheran Church or Heartland Humane Society in Yankton.
