Farmers Union Sets Yankton County Camp Date

With childhood obesity rates skyrocketing across the country, kids need to learn what foods to eat, where their food comes from, and how to live a healthy lifestyle. They can gain that knowledge and learn about agriculture, cooperative business, leadership, and the spirit of cooperation at this year's Farmers Union day camp.

All children ages 6-13 are invited to attend South Dakota Farmers Union's Yankton County Camp scheduled July 27 with registration at 10 a.m. at Memorial Park East Shelter, Yankton, SD. In case of rain, the camp will be held at the 4-H Building, 700

Whiting Dr. The camp will run from 10:30 a.m.-5 p.m. with a small registration fee for non-Farmers Union members.

This year's camp theme is "Growing Healthy Cooperatively" and will include activities that teach children about healthy living and cooperation.

"We'll have activities that will teach young people where their food comes from and how to live a healthy lifestyle," said Bonnie Geyer, state education director. "The kids will learn important lessons about the importance of agriculture in our country and how to work together and live a healthy lifestyle by making good food choices. They'll learn about the cooperative spirit, and gain leadership and other life skills while having a lot of fun in a safe environment."

Campers will have the opportunity to play cooperative games, participate in many activities and learn about cooperatives and leadership. There will also be food pyramid activities and all campers will create their own "Garden Buddy," where they will plant grass seeds and watch the Garden Buddy's "hair" grow throughout the summer.

Campers are asked to bring a sack lunch and a swimming suit, towel, and swimming pass or $3 for swimming in the afternoon. All campers will receive a free T-shirt donated by Farmers Union Insurance and will walk away with wonderful memories and a greater understanding of healthy living. To further promote the importance of exercise, each participant will receive a free jump rope donated by Sanford Health.

Registration forms can be found online at www.sdfu.org. You can also pick them up at your local Farmers Union Insurance office, or your local cooperative. For more information contact State Education Director Bonnie Geyer at 605-352-6761, ext. 125, or email her at bgeyer@sdfu.org.

Heeney

"This big, gregarious man stepped into my office, stuck out that bear paw and shook my hand," he said. "At the end of that hand was friendship. From the minute he met me, I knew he was a friend."

Paulsen recalled the looks on the faces of his staff on Friday as he informed them that Heeney had died.

"The reaction I saw was not to the loss of a boss, but to the loss of a friendship," he said. "It was the loss of a true friend who had been their boss and become more."

"Thank you for sharing your father with the community," Paulsen told Heeney's family.

Friends and family both recounted how, as Heeney recovered from his tractor accident, he talked about getting into the red convertible Mustang he had originally bought for his wife and traveling to see family members, as well as the Lincoln Highway.

One long-time friend lightened the mood with recollections about how the two of them had spent their first day in kindergarten crying in the cloakroom and vowed to never come out of it. In their high school years, they would go on to lock a shop teacher in a finishing room and leave him there as they went to football practice.

The Rev. Ron Johnson, who officiated the ceremony, brought a close to the remembrances of Heeney, saying, "He was respected. He was dependable. He was reliable. He was family oriented. The door to his office was open. He encouraged officers to be fair and compassionate and to stay connected to their families."

He said that Heeney would encourage his friends and family to not miss a moment or opportunity to grow in some way.

"To his family I want to say, thank you for staying the course with your dad and grandpa through some truly difficult times, especially the last few weeks," Johnson said. "To all of the rest of the families here, thank you for surrounding this family with your prayers and thoughts."
