Highway Patrol To Be 'Out In Force' July 4

PIERRE — South Dakota's Highway Patrol will be out in force on the Fourth of July with a high-visibility campaign to emphasize safe travel during the holiday weekend.

The day-long saturation patrol will involve virtually all uniformed troopers. It is part of the Highway Patrol's summer-long safe-travel campaign, "Obey the Sign and Avoid the Fine."

"The Fourth of July holiday period is one of the busiest of the year for travel on state highways," says Col. Craig Price, superintendent of the Highway Patrol. "Putting as many troopers on the road as possible raises public awareness of the need to make safe travel choices. That means wearing seatbelts, following speed limits and other rules of the road, avoiding distractions and having a sober driver every trip."

"Obey the Sign and Avoid the Fine" is a campaign to reduce highway crashes and increase safety on South Dakota's roadways. Office of Highway Safety statistics show that speeding, impaired driving and other hazardous moving violations are major contributors to crashes, injuries and deaths on state highways.

While speed and alcohol are the top targets for the enforcement campaign, troopers will be enforcing all other traffic laws.

In addition to enforcement, the summer safety campaign is using social media for public education and has partnered with the State Department of Transportation for permanent and portable message boards with safe-driving messages on the interstates and other high-traffic areas in South Dakota.

USD Welcomes China Delegation To Campus

The Institute will provide a delegation of 12 business leaders from China, including Professor Lu, with information about investments in the United States. The four-day session will include lectures, tours and demonstrations of South Dakota's economic capabilities as well as other activities. Lu, president and chief researcher of Beijing Bo Zhi Hang Research Institute of Commercial Real Estate, is considered a leading expert on business development.

Dream." Gov. Daugaard is also scheduled to speak at an Institute completion ceremony at 9 a.m. on Wednesday, July 10 at Farber Hall, when the Chinese delegation will receive certificates for the four-day professional learning experience.

Sister Marlene Stetz Celebrates Golden Jubilee

Sister Marlene Stetz celebrated her Golden Jubilee of Monastic Profession at Sacred Heart Monastery in Yankton, SD, on Saturday, June 29.

Born at Genoa, Nebraska on July 20, 1942, S. Marlene Stetz (baptized Carolyn Jean) was the fifth of six children of Francis and Marian (Uzendoski) Stetz. She grew up on a farm between Genoa and St. Edward, where the faith of her parents planted the seeds of a vocation to religious life in Carolyn and her brother Eugene, now Fr. Allan of Conception Abbey in Missouri.

Stetz

She graduated from Genoa High School in 1960. During her freshmen year at Mount Marty College, she was attracted by the prayer of the Sisters, especially the daily Mass, and made the decision to enter Sacred Heart Monastery. She made first profession in 1963. Continuing her education at Mount Marty, she received her B. A. in Elementary Education in 1965, and made perpetual monastic profession in 1968. She taught in elementary and junior high classrooms in NE and SD.

After teaching 18 years she began working in computer technology, serving Mount Marty College, Madonna Rehabilitation Center in Lincoln, NE, and the Diocese of Sioux Falls, SD. More recently from year 2002 to 2011 S. Marlene worked as a Nurse Aide in Parkston and in Pastoral Care at Avera Brady Health & Rehabilitation in Mitchell. Presently she is working as a companion to the elderly for the agency Joy in the Journey in Omaha.

As S. Marlene reflects on her experience of Jubilee, she recalls that "St. Benedict described his Rule as 'a rule for beginners'. Even religious who have been following the Rule for decades find new life and challenge in it. People have been living this little rule for centuries. I am grateful to be part of this 1500 year tradition of 'the Rule for beginners' and that I am celebrating these 50 years with my sisters of Sacred Heart Monastery in Yankton, South Dakota."

Yankton Chamber To Offer Course On Managing Employees

Workforce development is a constant buzzword in businesses throughout the community. Finding good people to fill jobs is a difficult task and second to managing people. Every manager would like to hire with confidence, fire without fear, tame toxic employees and put their team on the fast track to success — but they don't have the skills.

As a manager, you can learn these skills by attending the "How to Manage Problem Employees" business seminar being hosted by the Yankton Area Chamber of Commerce. Thursday, July 11, the Business Development Committee brings back Glenn Shepard for a half day seminar from 8:30 a.m.-noon at the Riverfront Event Center at 121 W. 3rd St. in Downtown Yankton. This seminar will offer tools for attitude adjustment, motivation, ending office gossip and helping instead of enabling employees. Learn how to deal with tattletales, whiners, office hypochondriacs, temper tantrums and more. Director of Chamber Services Carmen Schramm said "more than 129 business managers attended last year and were blown away by Glenn's toolkit for dealing with management issues. We were requested to bring him back so that more managers could gain valuable information for their businesses."

Shepard is the author of "How to Manage Problem Employees" and "How to Make Performance Evaluation Really Work." His publisher is John Wiley & Sons of New York, the world's largest and most respected publisher of scientific, technical and professional journals.

There is an enrollment fee with the seminar. When three or more enroll, the fourth person can attend for free.

This program has been approved for 3.25 (General) recertification credit hours toward PHR, SPHR and GPHR recertification through the HR certification institute. There is zero risk in attending this seminar. If you are not totally satisfied, your money will be refunded.

To register, contact the Chamber at (605) 665-3636 or register at www.yanktonsd.com/seminars. Attendees are requested to arrive by 8 a.m. to insure the program begins on time.
