75 YEARS AGO

Tuesday, July 19, 1938. Gottfried Dreismeier, farmer residing one half mile west of Crofton lost eighteen head of hogs ranging in weight from 70 to 200 pounds each and several were sick. The loss was attributed to either eating cockle burrs or old buttermilk which has been placed in a galvanized barrel. Harry Nohr farmer five miles northwest of Crofton recently lost two hogs each weighing 200 pounds after feeding old buttermilk. Little more than 100 years ago, people had a difficult time finding out what was happening elsewhere in the world - even in other parts of their own state.
