Jeter Could Return To Yankees Next Week In Cleveland

NEW YORK (AP) — Derek Jeter could be ready to resume his chase for 3,000 hits by early next week. The injured New York Yankees shortstop through his latest round of rehab work Wednesday in Tampa, Fla., and general manager Brian Cashman said if all goes well over the next couple of days Jeter might begin a minor league rehab assignment Saturday with Double-A Trenton.

He is likely to play at least two rehab games, and Cashman acknowledged it's possible Jeter could re-join the team for a three-game series in Cleveland starting Monday. Sideline by a strained right calf, Jeter is six hits shy of 3,000. A return next week could put him on track to reach the milestone at Yankee Stadium during a four-game series against Tampa Bay from July 7-10.

Vikings Working On Stadium Proposal

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings say they are still working on a proposal for a new stadium in Arden Hills. Vice president Lester Bagley says "a handful of issues" are still being discussed as they work to fine tune the proposal and get it ready for presentation to the Legislature. The Vikings don't expect that to happen until state leaders resolve the budget stalemate. Bagley says lawmakers ## have other issues and priorities and we respect those."

Bagley says the Vikings will be ready when called upon. He says they are still discussing the size and scope of the project, but did not want to get into specifics. Options for reducing the $1 billion price tag include changing plans for a retractable roof to make it a fixed roof.

FARGO, N.D. (AP) — Football coach Craig Bohl and North Dakota State University have agreed to a five-year contract extension that pays a base salary of $196,668 plus incentives for wins in the conference and the playoffs. Bohl enters his ninth season with the Bison with a 61-30 career record. In 2010, the Bison made their first-ever appearance in the NCAA Division I Football Championship Subdivision I (FCS) playoffs. Taylor said the base salary of the contract is $196,668 beginning July 1. The contract includes incentives for a Missouri Valley Football Conference Championship ($10,000), NCAA Football Championship Subdivision playoff home ($5,000) and away ($2,500) games, a FCS runner-up finish ($10,000) and a FCS championship ($15,000).

Fighting Sioux Nickname Meeting With NCAA Set

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — A group of North Dakota officials plan to meet with the NCAA next month to see if the University of North Dakota can avoid being penalized for keeping its Fighting Sioux nickname. North Dakota University System Chancellor William Goetz (getz) says the meeting will be July 25th in Indianapolis, where the NCAA is based. The association says the Fighting Sioux nickname is hostile to American Indians and says UND will be sanctioned if it keeps using it. However, there's a state law that says UND must keep using the name and an American Indian head logo. North Dakota House Republican majority leader Al Carlson of Fargo was the law's chief sponsor. He has pushed for the meeting to see if the NCAA can be talked into changing its mind.

to seek final approval before construction can begin.

Board officials also made it clear that no state money will be used for the projects, according to regents executive director and CEO Jack Warner.

"It is the board's clear expectation that private donations and sponsorships will pay the full cost of constructing these facilities, if they are approved," Warner said in Wednesday's release.

"Additionally, we expect on-going operating costs to be supported by athletic revenues, such as ticket sales and advertising."

Saylor acknowledged the board's request to have the projects funded by only private money, saying that it is "understandable."

"That's the assumption we've been working with, and now we can officially go out and make it happen," he added.

Wednesday's decision is the first step in what could be a 4-5 year process toward new and improved athletic facilities in Vermillion, Saylor said. USD's 2015 athletic master plan also includes an outdoor track and soccer field complex.

"This is a positive thing for both schools," he said. "We've got a long way to go, but at least the process is starting now. We look forward to the challenges."
