Disney's 'Beauty And The Beast' Opens PRT Season

BROOKINGS — Prairie Repertory Theatre opens its 42nd season with Disney's timeless classic, "Beauty and the Beast."

Belle, played by Kimberly Graff, tames the Beast, played by Kameron Nelson in the PRT production of "Beauty and the Beast."

Not only should audiences be prepared to experience the lively characters and music from the Disney film, but also new Broadwayworthy musical numbers.

Performances run through Saturday, June 9, with a 2 p.m. matinee Sunday, June 10, in Doner Auditorium in the Administration Building at South Dakota State University. "Beauty and the Beast" will also show in Brandon at the Performing Arts Center in July.

"Beauty and the Beast" tells the story of Belle, a charming beauty longing for a fairytale adventure. Her existence takes an unexpected turn when she is forced to sacrifice her freedom to save her father's life. Belle is condemned to an eternity of living in an enchanted castle ruled by the horrible Beast.

Belle's determination, combined with the persistence of the enchanted characters she encounters, helps her to see that good can come from any situation, no matter how bad things get. Belle realizes even a vicious Beast can be taught to love.

Kimberly Graff, Humboldt, will take the stage as Belle, and Kameron Nelson, Rapid City, plays Beast. Twenty-five other cast members don voice and costume to tell the enchanted tale.

Elaborate costume design sets PRT's production of "Beauty and the Beast" apart from other shows. Detailed homemade headdresses equipped with plastic teacups and plates create the illusion of heavy dishware hats.

Billy Wilburn, professor of theater at SDSU, and self-proclaimed Disney fanatic, is directing "Beauty and the Beast," his second PRT production.

The show has a lot of special effects and complex makeup. We are trying to make people into napkins, forks, teacups and other objects," Wilburn said. "We are using unusual materials and turning them into costumes. We want to create magic and make 'Beauty and the Beast' a great experience for patrons."

"I am most excited to open this wonderful show for both Brookings and Brandon audiences with some of the most incredible local and visiting talents PRT has ever displayed," said Wilburn.

Audiences of all ages are invited to revisit this legendary tale to celebrate the message of love and kindness, even in the darkest circumstances.

The ASO is located in the Performing Arts Center at SDSU in Brookings, and is open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday for summer. Tickets can be purchase there or online at http://sdstate.tix.com or call 605-688-6045.
