Yankton College Receives Preservation Grant

Yankton College, a 501c3 non-profit organization, was recently awarded a $500 grant through the South Dakota State Historical Records Advisory Board (SD SHRAB) with support from the National Historical Publications and Records Commission for the purchase of archival supplies. One of the goals of the SD SHRAB Strategic Plan is identifying important historical records and making plans to preserve them before a crisis point is reached. The college has a collection of commencement, athletic and fine arts program booklets dating back to the late 1800s. They include: College publicity and programs for homecoming, dances, literary societies, athletic events, theatrical productions and musical concerts and much more. They tell the College story. The goal of this project is to follow the SD SHRAB Strategic Plan and to preserve these College records by using acid-free archival supplies and sound archival practices to protect the historical items for future generations to access. "If there is no action plan to preserve the Yankton College Historic Collection, an important part of South Dakota history will fade away, reaching a crisis point for these historical items. It is essential that a plan be implemented, and the grant award gave us the impetus to begin our plan," says Jan Garrity, Yankton College executive director. For more than 25 years, items and records related to life on the Yankton College campus since its beginning have been acquired and stored within the administrative office. Yankton College has a large collection of memorabilia and other artifacts on display. To see the display or if you wish to donate YC items, visit the Yankton College office at 1801 Summit St., Door #9, open Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m.-4 p.m.
