Senate Makes Progress On Farm Bill
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has broken a deadlock on a $103 billion farm bill, setting the stage for a full vote on the measure this week.

Senate Majority Leader Harry Reid announced a last-minute deal that would save about $17 billion over five years, including a $16 billion cut in subsidies to farmers, who don’t plant crops, replacing that with greater crop insurance. The House has yet to come up with a companion bill.

The Senate bill would bring major changes to the federal safety net for farmers, who have been counting on a $43 billion bill that expired in 2003 and 2010, might have to be replaced.

The twin-reactor plant between Los Angeles and San Diego has been closed for more than a week after the leak, which prompted the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to declare an emergency.
