Step-Sister, Diamonds And Toads Make For An Interesting Read

'Once Upon A Toad,' by Heather Vogel Frederick, Simon & Schuster Books for Young Readers, 2012. 272 pages.

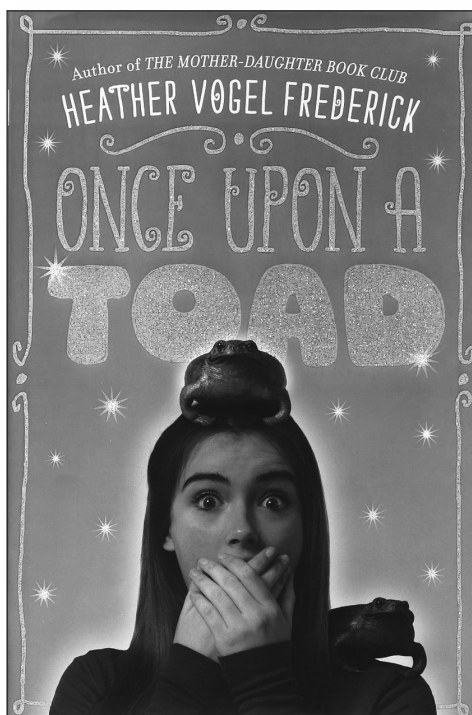

BY PAT HANSEN

What would be worse than switching schools during the middle of 8th grade? How about moving in with your step-sister, who's the same age, who hates you to pieces, and whom you also hate?

Throw in a few more things: 1. Your step-mother buys you matching rings that say Sisters are Forever Friends; 2. You have to share a bedroom with your step-sister; 3. Your step-sister puts duct tape down the middle of the bedroom so you won't cross onto her half; 4. You find out you're in the same home room at school as your step-sister.

Cat's proud of her mom being an astronaut, but when her mom gets picked to go to the international space station for three months, Cat has to go live with her dad. Iz, her dad's wife is great and Cat loves her little brother. It's Olivia, her step-sister that is the problem. They are totally opposite personalities with absolutely nothing in common. Olivia and her friends go out of their way to make Cat feel un-welcome at school. When they start calling her Catbox and sniffing like she stinks, Cat wants desperately to go back home.

She calls her mom and tells NASA that it's an emergency. Her mom tells Cat to hang in there. Coincidentally, Cat's very eccentric great-aunt Abyssinia shows up in her big mobile home the next day. Her lame advice to find common ground with Olivia doesn't thrill Cat but it's great to see great-aunt Aby anyway. It's almost like she can read Cat's mind.

But some things about her just don't add up... When she mentions leveling the playing field with Olivia, Cat has no idea what she's talking about.

The next morning Cat scares the bejebers out of her little brother and herself when she talks, toads fall out of her mouth! What in the world?! Cat decides she can't let anyone know about it until she figures out what is going on. She decides to fake a bad case of laryngitis. Things get really weird when Olivia talks and showers her family with flowers and diamonds that she's produced.

Cat's dad and Iz take Olivia to the doctor to figure out what's going on while Cat just keeps her mouth shut. But something like toads, flowers, and diamonds can't stay secret forever. Before long the media have descended on their doorstep. Except no one knows about Cat and the toads yet. They're all obsessed with Olivia.

It's so unfair, Cat fumes. She gets toads, while Olivia gets diamonds and flowers?

Diamonds aren't necessarily a good thing, though, when they attract the wrong kind of people. Before long, Cat's family is in danger. She and Olivia have to work together and trust each other to save them.

This book, for ages 10 and up, is obviously fantasy. It's a light-hearted read, sure to entertain no matter what your taste-flowery or toad-ally gross.

Summer Reading Explodes At Your Library

BY KATHY JACOBS

It's not too late to register for the summer reading program. Although you missed some great programs and events in June, there is more to come in July. Our themes for the month of July are Monster Mash, Starry Night, Camping under the Stars and Shop 'til You Drop!

Join us for our four weekly story times as they feature new stories, activities and crafts each session. Story times are Monday, 6:30 p.m.; Tuesday, 3:30 p.m., Wednesday and Thursday, 10:15 a.m.

On Monday, July 9, join us for "Pockets Full of Fun," a puppeteer who promises to have a great presentation. This program is sponsored by the Yankton Morning Optimists. During the remainder of that week, we'll have special star gazing opportunities with a Sky Lab.

On Tuesday through Friday, we have programs and activities that will interest all ages. Our Tuesday night family movies begin at 5:30 p.m. The following are the movie features: July 10: E.T. and July 17: Yogi Bear. Pack a picnic lunch and bring the kids!

Readers are already shopping in our Dream Shoppe and some great prizes have left the building. Keep reading and turn in your book bucks when you are ready to purchase your prize. Please note that the store closes Saturday, July 28, at 5 p.m. This year's book bucks will not be honored during next year's program.

Teen and adults programs continue with a Night Photography class with Jerry Smith on July 20, 8:30 p.m., gathering outside the Capitol Building in Riverside Park. On July 12, Mike Peck will hold a class entitled "The Gentle Art of Self Defense." This class begins at 5:30 p.m., in the library meeting room. You can register for these free events at the library circulation desk.

Another great opportunity to learn local history is our Ghost Tour night on Thursday, July 26. We will meet at the Dakota Territorial Museum and offer two tours if we have enough participants. The first tour, which begins at 7 p.m., must be filled before we will take reservations for the 8 p.m. tour. Because we are partnering with the Museum, Crystal Nelson has graciously agreed to lead the tours, and we have booked a bus from Yankton Transit. There is a cost for this event and your seat(s) will only be reserved when you pay at the library.

Julie Mooney will present "Feng Shui and your Bedroom" on Monday, July 16, 7 p.m. You will have the opportunity to view a few historic bedrooms as well as hear ideas on decorating your bedroom to optimize sleep.

We were unable to star gaze in June because of an overcast sky. Therefore, we've added an extra night in July in the hope that we can actually view one of those nights. On Wednesday, July 25, 9:30 p.m., we will meet in the Mount Marty parking lot and use the vacant field west of the lot. Jim Miner says we should get a good look at the moon, Saturn and Mars. If the sky is overcast on July 25, join us on July 26, same time, same place. If viewing is good on July 25, we will not view on July 26.

The two library book clubs will feature guest presenters and everyone is welcome to attend. Readers Anonymous meets July 10 at 1 p.m., with Julie Manning presenting "The Origins of Dr. Frankenstein's Creature." Between the Lines meets July 17, at 5:30 p.m., with Shane Gerlach presenting "Guy Fieri Food: Cookin' It, Livin' It, Lovin' It." The public is invited to both of these presentations, even if you are not a member of the book clubs.

We are in need of all sizes of empty kleenex boxes for our summer reading crafts during the first week in July. They will make great monster feet!

We collected 78 cans of fruit during our June Food for Fines. We will collect ketchup and mustard July 14-22, with all donations going to the Contact Center.

Please note that the library will close at 5 p.m. on Tuesday, July 3, and will be closed all day July 4. We will reopen at 9 a.m. on Thursday, July 5.

Are you traveling and in need of books on CD, downloadable books or movies? Don't forget to make the library one of your stops as you plan your departure.

Friends of the Library will hold their monthly book sale on Saturday, July 7, 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Friends is always happy to accept gently used books for their sales.

Did you know that in 2011, 64,490 junior and easy items were checked out?

You can contact the library at 605-668-5275 or e-mail me at kjacobs@yankton.net. View us online at <http://www.yanktonsd.org/yankton/library/index.php> or visit us on Facebook by searching Yankton Community Library.
