Comic Novelist Tom Sharpe Dies At 85

FRIDAY PRIMETIME/LATE NIGHT

LONDON (AP) — Tom Sharpe was aptly named, a writer who turned a razor-edged eye for absurdity on everything from the racism of apartheid to the squabbles of academia.

The British writer behind a string of comic novels including the campus classic "Porterhouse Blue" has died at 85.

Sharpe's Spanish publisher, Anagrama, said he died Thursday in Llafranc, the Catalan town where he lived. His physician, Dr. Montserrat Verdaguer, said the cause was complications from dia-

Sharpe's first novel, the South Africa-set "Riotous Assembly," was published in 1971. He became one of Britain's most popular comic novelists with books that combined satire and farce, including "Blott on the Landscape," the "Wilt" series about a long-suffering college lecturer, and "Porterhouse Blue," set in a fictitious Cambridge University college.

Born in London on March 30, 1928, Sharpe studied at Lancing College and Pembroke College, Cambridge, before serving in the Royal Marines after World War II.

Some of his skeptical outlook may have stemmed from early disillusionment with the ideals of his father, a Unitarian minister and admirer of Adolf Hitler. Sharpe later told a BBC interviewer that when he found out about Nazi atrocities as a teenager, "my mind was blown by the horror of what had been happening."

He sharpened his satirical ax as a young man working as a teacher and social worker in South Africa. He was deported in 1961 after he wrote a play criticizing the apartheid regime.

"Smart enough to appear smarter than I am," he reasons. "I was smart enough to get into Cambridge, and I guess I was smart enough to realize that I wasn't as clever as everyone else when I got there. I felt kind of out of place there, and spent most of my time doing comedy rather than academics.'

Notably, he became part of the Cambridge Footlights comedy troupe, whose luminous alumni include Sasha Baron Cohen, Hugh Laurie, John Cleese and David

"That was where I learnt, through failure, to do comedy, which, initially, is re-LENT-less failure," he says rhapsodically -"un-re-MIT-ting failure!"

But that was followed by successful standup gigs and TV appearances across his homeland.

Hell Stewart discovered Hill and brought him to these shores.

"From the day I came to 'The Daily Show' I couldn't imagine not being here," says Oliver. "I really love this job! I can't fathom a time that I won't be working here.

And for the next few weeks he is filling in for the man who not only is his boss, but, to hear him talk, a bona fide mentor.

"You KNOW Jon Stewart is funny," Oliver says. "What you DON'T see is, he's a pretty incredible manager of production as well. He's spent over 10 years making sure this show operates in a certain way. The key thing is to really keep your foot on the throat of this show so that it doesn't just get up and walk

He laughs appreciatively. "That's the biggest lesson he's taught me.

Štarting Monday, John Oliver is putting his foot down, and keeping it funny.

The "Basement Acoustics" will perform from 6-8 p.m. at the beer garden. The combo consists of brothers Brad and John Gullikson, formerly of Fordyce. Their mother, Fran Gullikson, still resides locally

The announcement of judging results for various categories will be held at 8 p.m. The committee encourages pioneer clothes and other use of the historic theme.

The street dance featuring the rock-and-roll band Gotcha Cover'd will be held from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. on Main Street.

The day also features the "Hillbilly Truck" with entertaining items. Visitors can also check out souvenir sales, a bake sale and food booths.

Solid Support

While Saturday marks the official celebration, Fordyce residents enjoyed a head start on the festivities.

Last weekend, a poker run attracted 19 vehicles and 52 participants, according to Casidy Potts. The poker run started at Wiebelhaus Service in Fordyce, then made stops in Crofton, Hartington, Bow Valley, St. Helena and Wynot.

"It was a fundraiser for the centennial, and we did really well even with the bad weather," Potts said.

Residents won't wait another 100 years to hold the poker run, Becker said. "It was a lot of fun.

We plan to do it again," she said. Financial support for the celebration has also come in the way of sponsorships, Amanda Potts

'Right now, we have 95 sponsors from Fordyce and the surrounding area," she said. "We have a lot of events and prizes that are sponsored. The support has been so overwhelming. We are more than happy with the response." Area residents are sprucing up their homes, businesses and other property for Saturday's visitors, Eickhoff said. The process is like giving the community a make-over, she said.

"People are really taking a lot of pride in the community," she

Because the church and school recently put out a large book, the Fordyce centennial committee decided to go with a calendar rather than duplicate the previous effort. Other memorabilia is on sale, including the popular T-shirts featuring four dice (get it, For-dyce?).

The camaraderie of Fordyce residents and the surrounding farm families makes life special, the centennial committee said. They point to the local church and school as part of the reason why Fordyce remains a great, safe place to raise families. Pinkelman said he lives north

"Why do I live here? Because it's a great small community," he said with pride.
