Motor Vehicle Registration Fee To Rise

PIERRE — The South Dakota Department of Revenue, Division of Motor Vehicles, wants to remind motor vehicle owners that the second phase of the non-commercial motor vehicle registration fee increase will go into effect on July 1.

House Bill 1192, which was passed in 2011 over Gov. Dennis Daugaard's veto, raised vehicle registration fees in a two-phase process. The first phase took place in 2011, and the second increase will happen next month. The new funds from the increase will go to local roads and bridges.

Registration fees are computed according to the weight schedules for non-commercial vehicles. The new fee rate schedule can be viewed online at the Division of Motor Vehicles webpage:
http://www.state.sd.us/drr2/motorvehicle/index.htm (see "New Fee Schedules.)

Gospel Singing Convo Set For Menno

MENNO — The Southeastern South Dakota Gospel Singing Convention will hold its quarterly songfest at 2 p.m. Sunday, June 30, at the Peace Christian Reformed Church in Menno.

For more than a decade, the Singing Convention has met quarterly in various churches and community centers across the southeastern part of the state for an afternoon of singing hymns and southern gospel style songs in four-part harmony.

A convention program will find members of the audience calling out their favorite numbers from a songbook that contains over one thousand songs and hymns. Various pianists from the area take a turn at accompanying the songs on the piano. Members of the audience may also take a turn at directing if they wish. Alan Ward of Viborg is generally the director and keeps the audience in good spirits and things moving along.

The purpose of the Singing Convention is to preserve the tradition of singing hymns and choruses in the traditional four-part tradition seeing as music styles have changed any many of today's churches.

The afternoon event is free and open to all who would like to come and join in the singing. For more information, you may call 605-212-9011. The Peace Reformed Church is located at 306 North High Street in the northeast corner of Menno.

OBITUARIES

Rosemary (Dilger) Stipo

Beloved mother, Rosemary E. (Dilger) Stipo, 90, born and raised in Yankton, passed away peacefully on June 19, 2013 at home surrounded by her loving family.

Singer, teacher, friend, choir leader, military wife, champion card player and coffee drinker, and devoted mother, Rosemary spent a lifetime serving others. After raising her family in Verona, Italy, Northern Virginia and Omaha, she moved with her beloved husband, Vito, to Palm Bay in 1986. Together with him she continued her church involvement, joining St. Joseph's parish, where she served as President of the Council of Catholic Women and St. Joseph's Women's Guild and founded the rosary-makers group, making rosaries for missions throughout the world. She had many friends through her activities here, including the Discalced Carmelites and the Bereavement Committee. Throughout her life she was involved with ministering to the sick and homebound, and was a lifetime member of the Legions of Mary, encouraging others to increase their devotion to the Blessed Mother.

Rosemary graduated from Mount Marty High School in Yankton, then moved to Chicago to study voice under some of the top music instructors of the day. She was chosen as a protege by opera diva, Helen Traubel, and studied with her before returning to S.D. to complete her degree at Yankton College. With only one daughter, she was able to balance motherhood while teaching English, French and music before having her additional four children, which then gave her the title of full time homemaker. Rosemary continued to sing, direct choirs and teach voice lessons, but few knew there were several recordings of her early career as a mezzo soprano. Her home was filled with opera music each Saturday afternoon with live performances from the Met. In recent years, she enjoyed singing with The Golden Tones of Palm Bay.

But still she was more. Rosemary was an excellent cook and the original foodie. Years spent living in Germany and Italy encouraged her inquisitive nature and she enjoyed seeking out new delicacies long before they were mainstream or fashionable. A student of health and nutrition, Rosemary constantly sought to feed her family in the healthiest way possible, relying on nutritional healing rather than medicines. She always cultivated an herb and vegetable garden, engaging in friendly competition with her neighbors for largest zucchini. Her boundless energy came in handy in battling the relentless Florida vegetation.

She was preceded in death by her beloved husband, Vito, and is survived by her children Patricia Nelson, Anne Nicol, Jean Stipo, Joseph Stipo, Mary Potter; grandchildren Laura, Jim, Marc, Mary Pat, Nicolas, and Nastasia; and great-grandchildren Nicole and Phillip. Her sister Delores Dilger Rike passed away just 10 days before her and they will be buried on the same day.

A wake was held Friday, June 21, from 4-6 p.m. at Brownlie-Maxwell Funeral Home in Melbourne, with the Rosary at 5 p.m. Funeral Mass was held at St Joseph's in Palm Bay at 2 p.m., Saturday, June 22. She asked that in lieu of flowers "Do something kind for someone in my memory and say a prayer for me."
