Habitat For Humanity To Break Ground On 38th Home

Linsey and McKenzie on the lot where their new home will soon be located.

A chorus of hammers and saws will be heard as Habitat for Humanity, a Christian housing ministry, breaks ground on its 38th home in Yankton County.

Habitat invites the public to celebrate the accomplishments of our new partner family; Linsey Colgan and her daughter McKenzie as they break ground for their new home to be built at 903 Pearl Street, Yankton. The groundbreaking is scheduled for Wednesday, June 11, at 4 p.m.

In addition, Habitat would like to announce Bike & Build will pedal into Yankton on July 13 and will be hosted by First United Methodist Church during their stay.

On July 14, Bike & Build will raise the walls for the Colgans' new home. Through service-oriented cycling trips, Bike & Build benefits affordable housing and empowers young adults for a lifetime of service and civic engagement. Bike & Build will begin their route in Providence Rhode Island and pedal across the states to Seattle Washington to spread the word of the affordable housing crisis in America.

Julie Dykstra, Executive Director for Habitat for Humanity of Yankton County, states, "Our affiliate has been very blessed throughout the past years to help FUMC host this amazing group of young adults and are looking forward to their help with raising the walls constructed of the studs purchased by our Stud-A-Thon sponsors."

The Colgans have already begun working towards completing at least 300 hours of sweat equity. Upon completion of this home, Habitat will sell the home to the partner family.

Since 1996, Habitat for Humanity has helped 39 families obtain their dream of owning a safe, affordable place to call home. The homes are kept affordable through volunteer labor, donations of money and materials in addition to a 0% interest loan for the term of the mortgage.

75 YEARS AGO

Tuesday, June 6, 1939
 The Yankton Press & Dakotan has another birthday today! It marks the 78th anniversary of the founding of the Weekly Dakotian, one of the parent papers of the Press & Dakotan, and the first paper of continuous existence to be issued in South Dakota.
 Preliminary work will be started at once to get data on construction of an additional clear water storage basin at the city water plant to provide necessary storage capacity which would take care of the city's needs for 24 hours should a breakdown occur at the plant.

50 YEARS AGO

Saturday, June 6, 1964
 Yankton college dramatists Friday night paid rollicking tribute to William Shakespeare's four-hundredth birthday with their production of Twelfth Night. If Avon's Bard could have been among first-nighters, he would no doubt have shared the audience delight in the comedy, to be presented again tonight, June 6 at 8:30 in the Garden Terrace Theater.

Another school of instruction for baby-sitters is planned by the Yankton Jayettes. Four years ago, the organization staged a course of training for over 40 girls, and the success of that venture brings about the plan for repeating it now. The Jayettes hope to launch the program by the end of June.

25 YEARS AGO

Tuesday, June 6, 1989
 Memorial Park Swimming Pool received something of a facelift this week as city maintenance crews applied two fresh coats of paint to its interior. The project was part of a regular maintenance plan which calls for the pool to receive a new paint job every two to three years.
 The Douglas County Memorial Hospital has formed a non-profit corporation after the Benedictine-Presentation Health Alliance terminated its lease with the hospital. Community members began seriously discussing the formation of a non-profit corporation to operate the hospital in late April.

USD Names New VP of Enrollment, Marketing And University Relations

VERMILLION — Scott Pohlson has been named Vice President of Enrollment, Marketing and University Relations at the University of South Dakota effective June 9.

For the past two years, Pohlson served as an executive consultant with Noel-Levitz, Inc. where he conducted custom financial aid consulting for more than a dozen clients on everything from retention reporting to developing enrollment management plans. Prior to serving as an executive consultant with Noel-Levitz, Pohlson was dean of enrollment at USD from 2010 to 2012. While at USD, Pohlson managed student recruitment while assisting USD's efforts with the continued development of an effective financial aid and scholarship leveraging system.

"Scott provides the University of South Dakota with experience in several areas that are important to growing our campus, including student recruitment, retention and using analytical models that will improve the efficiency of campus admissions," said James W. Abbott, USD President. "We are excited to have Scott return to campus in this role and to enlist his leadership at USD."

Pohlson has several years of experience working with both private and public universities in student recruitment and financial aid. His campus partnerships during his tenure at Noel-Levitz increased enrollment at Benedictine College more than 9 percent in first-year non-athlete students and in 2012, assisted enrollment growth at Michigan Tech University by more than 11 percent. In 2009, Kent State University saw an increase in enrollment for 2009 of 12.7 percent, helping Kent State to gain $6.42 million in net tuition revenue. Pohlson also assisted in developing a recruitment strategy at Creighton University that led to a 15 percent increase in applications. His efforts helped Creighton enroll its fourth largest class.

"I'm excited about the opportunities that USD has to offer, especially the University's focus on a traditional, campus-based learning environment," stated Pohlson, a native of Grinnell, Iowa. "You can see that in the investments that have been made in outstanding campus facilities and the tremendous focus on making the student experience at USD the best it can be. I think the future is bright at USD and I'm glad to be a part of it."

Pohlson received his M.B.A. in business management from Creighton University and a B.A. in business economics from Coe College. He and his wife, Amy, have two children: Olivia, 2, and Will, six weeks.
