So Far So Good For Derrik Nelson

BY JEREMY HOECK
jeremy.hoeck@yankton.net

Derrik Nelson is already making the most of his time playing in a college summer baseball league in St. Louis.

Nelson, a 22-year-old Mount Marty College player from Yankton, is playing his first season in the Lewis & Clark Baseball League, a second-year league that features teams filled with college players. Nelson's manager in St. Louis? Yankton native Mark Vig.

The Captains — a member of the Clark Conference — improved to 4-2 on the season after a 14-2 victory Monday.

Through five games, Nelson is batting .412 (third on the team) with one home run and five RBI, which are tied for the team lead.

He has also pitched one scoreless inning, with two strikeouts in that appearance.

The Captains also have on the roster another Mount Marty College player, as Zach Hollenbeck is an outfielder in St. Louis. Also on the roster is Ben Ladner from Dakota Wesleyan and Jordan Jeske from the University of Sioux Falls.
