P&D Photographers Look Back On The Season

Leaping Into Spring!

Photos By Kelly Hertz And James D. Cimburek

What's the spring season without a little dancing? Yankton's two dance studios provided plenty of that during their annual recitals. ABOVE: These boys with Yankton's Academy of Dance flash some moves during the studio's recital in May. The theme of the program was "Fairy Tales." (Hertz) RIGHT: These girls from the Green Room Dance Studio added a Spanish touch to their routine, part of the program "Come Sail Away." (Hertz)

ABOVE: The area basketball season wrapped up with a flurry of action in the annual Roger Haas Memorial Basketball Tournament, held in Yankton in March. (Hertz)

ABOVE: After a mostly dry spring, the Yankton area was hit with some big shots of rain, including this gully-washer that hit the northern part of Yankton County in June. Heavy rains and damaging storms afflicted several other parts of the region. (Hertz) RIGHT: This procession of the cross in honor of Good Friday was held in Yankton in April. (Hertz)

LEFT: The ghosts of athletic exploits' past were on display at the new Pickstown Fort Randall Museum, which was dedicated in June. (Hertz) To see or purchase photos taken by Press & Dakotan photographers, visit spotted.yankton.net.
