DAILY DOSE

Opinions from the P&D Sports Staff on local and national high school, college and pro sports.

BY JAMES D. CIMBUREK james.cimburek@yankton.net

In my 20-plus years in the newspaper business, I've covered more state championships than I care to count. My staff and I have covered a number of teams playing for regional and national titles. Next week, though, will be a whole new ball game. And the game's in our back yard.

In case you've missed the months of stories — and my friend and colleague Jeremy Hoeck on pretty much every sports radio show in the region - the World Archery Youth Championships are coming to Yankton. Archers from around the world have already begun to arrive on our doorstep, and many more will be here before the first competitive arrow flies on Tuesday.

Don't let the "youth" part of that title fool you: there are some of the top young archers in the world coming here, including some professions, like the one profiled in the Press & Dakotan earlier this week. If you don't see some of these young men and women in Rio next summer, there is a very good chance you'll see a few of them in Tokyo in 2020. (And in Boston in 2024, if the people of Boston get their way.)

Nervous Anticipation For The WAYC

VERMILLION — South Dakota head women's tennis coach Brett Barnett is pleased to announce the addition of four athletes to the 2015-16 roster. Ellie Burns and Maria Pandya have signed National Letters of Intent, while Emma Kranendonk and Hannah Wich will transfer from their current

"We are really excited about this class." said Barnett. "We added a lot of depth to the team. There are players from various international backgrounds that will be able to come in and play at a high level. They will make an impact in both the singles and doubles lineups. Off the court, they will maintain the high academic standards we have already set in place.

was both the West of Scotland under-18 singles champion She was also a national quarter-finalist in doubles. Burns won Spain's third annual La Manga Cup in 2014. She also captured a victory at Wallace Interiors Tayside Tournament. Burns has represented East of Scotland at the junior and senior level. At South Dakota, she plans to pursue a degree

A junior transfer from Nicholls State, Kranendonk recorded an 11-9 singles record in two years as a Colonel. She had six straight-set victories as a freshman, including one love game Kranendonk attended Kennemer College in her hometown of Heemskerk, Netherlands. Kranendonk will major in psychology at South Dakota, but eventually plans to pursue law

A native of Coventry, England, Pandya has reached a ranking in the top-30 in England for under-16 and under-18 players. She represented Warwickshire County as a junior and senior at the national tournament. Pandya also competed in cross country, rounders and netball at King Henry VIII. Outside of athletics, Pandya is a Grade 8 cellist and the principal cellist of the county youth orchestra. She earned the Brian Tompkins Music Prize two years in a row.

A sophomore transfer from Southern Illinois. Wich notched a 7-6 record in her freshman campaign. Wich hails from Hainburg, Germany, where she played No. 1 in club competition. She improved her ranking from 719 to 127 in the German under-18 rankings in 2013. Wich won the 2013 Pro Team Tennis Academy Cup and the Tretorn Tour's 2013-14 Nachwuchs Cup. She also finished runner-up at the SMD Lykla. Upon arrival at South Dakota, Wich plans to major in finance

SDSU Announces Volleyball Schedule For 50th Season

BROOKINGS - In 1966, Pat Hale's South Dakota State olleyball team played seven matches between Nov. 22 and Dec. 6 and became the first Jackrabbit women's team to go undefeated. Fast forward to 2015 and first-year head coach Nicole Cirillo's squad has a 30-match schedule starting in August and hopefully ending in late November. Things have

The Jackrabbits' 2015 schedule features eight home matches in Frost Arena, the first Division I volleyball match at the Sanford Pentagon and four road regular-season tournaments that include matches vs. teams that reached the NCAA Tournament

Overall, the SDSU's regular-season schedule features four matches against three different teams-Illinois, Kansas and Denver-that appeared in the 2014 NCAA Tournament field and vs. eight first-time opponents.

South Dakota State opens the season when it travels to DeKalb, III., for the Northern Illinois Tournament Aug. 28-29 The Jacks meet Pacific in their opener and play the host Huskies along with Iowa.

The Jackrabbits' home opener is Sept. 1 hosting Drake in the friendly confines of Frost Arena at 6 p.m.

Key Summit League dates for South Dakota State are Oct. 13 when it hosts in-state rival South Dakota: Nov. 1 when the Jackrabbits play at the Sanford Pentagon for the first time vs. Fort Wayne; and Nov. 13 when the team plays longtime opponent North Dakota State in a doubleheader with women's basketball.

The Summit League Championship is Nov. 19-22 at Denver

Kokesh, Yankton Youth Wrestling

To Hold Camp Aug. 8-9

by the time of his senior season at Andes Central in 2010, recorded a discus toss of 191 feet, 6 inches at the Howard Wood Dakota Relays – a mark that is likely to stand for a while.

When Snyder arrived at USD, he was redshirted his first indoor season in 2011, but those few months off from competing didn't mean he wasn't busy. He quickly realized that being a college athlete was certainly different than being a high school athlete, and for one specific reason, Snyder said: The year-round focus on track, and only track.

"In the winter (at Andes Central), we didn't have the facilities to do a whole lot,' he said. "The focus and actually being able to throw all year was a huge difference.'

Competing against D-I throwers? No, that wasn't much of an adjustment for Snyder.

He won the shot put and ing staff a picture of Snyder when he was entering his first year at USD.

"It was a reminder that Division I track is a very developmental sport," women's head coach Lucky Huber said Thursday.

Much like his throwing counterpart Kyle McKelvey (from Beresford) among many other Covote athletes, Snyder would be the perfect example of a South Dakota product who chose to stay close to home and who has found D-I success.

Those in-state recruits then have the opportunity to compete in front of their familv and friends, while at the same time doing so against the nation's top schools, Huber added.

"They stay relevant in the media market and people can follow along with how they're doing each year," he said.

And if they can develop into national champion-caliber athletes along the way, that's even better.

"We really think we need kids like Cody," Huber said.
