Paddlefish II Publication Released

The latest edition of Paddlefish II, the student literary journal written and edited by Mount Marty College stu-dents and faculty, has been released. The journal is an open submission magazine with original works of fiction, poetry, nonfiction, and art. Students work as editorial assistants for the literary journal and meet and discuss craft with awardwinning authors.

This year's award winning submissions were: 2015 Father Jack Garvey Award for Nonfiction -"The Evolution of Man" by Sahara Barrett (Yankton); 2015 Sister Eileen Neville Award for Poetry — "That Word" by Reilly Biel (Java); and Eugene Brinkmeyer Award for Fiction — "XIX" by Lauren Janssen (Sioux City, Iowa).

This year's online edition features submissions by thirteen different student authors. To view Paddlefish II go to www.mtmc.edu/arts/writing.aspx.

Mount Marty College is also home to the Great Plains Writers' Tour, which brings award-winning professional writers to campus, including former United States poet laureate Ted Kooser, American Book Award Winner Maria Mazziotti Gillan, Utah's first Poet Laureate David Lee, George Bilgere, Linda Hasselstrom and many others.

For more information on Paddlefish II or the creative writing program at Mount Marty College, contact Dr. James Reese at james.reese@mtmc.edu.

Dylan, Byrds Tribute Set For Gayville Hall

GAYVILLE — Gayville Hall and veteran South Dakota musicians Boyd Bristow, Mike Connor, and Jim Groth present "Bob Dylan, The Byrds, and Music of the Sixties," at 8 p.m. Saturday, June 27, in Gayville.

The show will revisit the exciting time 50 years ago in which the premier folk artist and songwriter of that generation inspired The Byrds and other folk and pop artists to enter a new era of musical exploration.

Dylan had written stunning folk anthems like "Blowing in the Wind" that had made him the successor to Woody Guthrie and the darling of American folk music, but in 1965 The Byrds' number-one hit pop recording of Dylan's "Mr. Tambourine Man" and Dylan's controversial performance at the Newport Folk Festival with amplified guitars proclaimed Bristow, Connor, and Groth will celebrate that explosion of musical creativity in a two-hour concert.

The widely known Sioux Falls-area musicians have been mainstays of the South Dakota music scene since the 1970s, individually performing in such events as the South Dakota Acoustic Christmas shows and in South Dakota Rock-and-Roll Hall of Fame honored bands.

Gayville Hall is at 502 Washington Street in Gayville. Call 605-267-2859 for ticket information.

Museum Hosting Fun Night June 30

The Dakota Territorial Museum is hosting a Family Fun Nite on Tuesday, June 30, at the museum campus located at Westside Park. Families are invited to come by and participate in some old-time games and contests.

There will be something for all ages. Beginning at 5:45 p.m., ages 6 and up can start signing up for the three-legged race and the egg/spoon race for teams of two. The egg races will begin around 6:30 p.m. and the three-legged races will follow. There will be a sunflower seed spitting contest for

For the little ones (ages 1-5) we will have a sandbox dig and a "fishing" booth. Kids and adults can also learn how to hula hoop and play hopscotch.

The evening will wrap up about 8 p.m. following the announcing of the seed spitting contest. All participants

This evening is the first in a summer of fun at the museum. There will be an Ice Cream Social on Saturday, July 18, and a Fun Nite on Tuesday, Aug. 11.

The summer programs are made possible thanks to local sponsors including Applied Engineering and Luken Memorials. For more information or if you have questions, contact the Dakota Territorial Museum at 665-3898

Summer Band Concert Is Tuesday

The Yankton Area Summer Band will host its fifth concert of its 33rd season on Tuesday, June 30, at 8 p.m. at the Riverside Park amphitheatre.

Aaron Schmeling, Director of Bands at Elk Point, will be conducting. Since Independence Day is so close, Schmeling has chosen a number of tunes that reflect our country's heritage and patriotism, and don't forget the March!

Rehearsals begin at 6:30 p.m. for interested musicians, with the performance starting at 8:00 p.m. If there is inclement weather, the rehearsal and concert will be held in the theater at the Yankton High School Summit Activities Center,

1801 Summit Street. For late changes due to weather, listen to the radio stations: WNAX, 570 AM; KYNT 1450 AM; KVHT 106.3 FM; or

'Marriage Book' Will Wed A Smile To Your Face

"The Marriage Book" by Lisa Grunwald & Stephen Adler; © 2015, Simon & Schuster. 537 pages

BY TERRI SCHLICHENMEYER

April showers bring May flowers. May flowers, they say, bring June brides — and July and August, and, well, your mailbox is filled with invitations this summer. Bottom line, what do you give to the newlyweds who have everything? How about "The Marriage Book" by Lisa Grunwald & Stephen

When are you two going to tie the knot?

It's a simple question often asked of starry-eyed couples, the answer of which is complicated and surprisingly defining. Because of marriage's intricacies, therefore, one could expect that the institution itself would be a common subject for pundits, grumps and romantics throughout history.

Take, for instance, Sir Winston Churchill. He was famous for nononsense words and his service to his office, but Churchill's wife particularly cherished tender love letters — complete with blushing nicknames — that he penned to her while he was away. Oh, and speaking of Brits, you'll also read about the man who gave away a kingdom for "the woman I love."

Maybe being in the public eye makes marriage more of a challenge, especially when infidelity becomes an issue: Bill and Hillary Clinton once went on TV to defend their love for each other, and Jimmy Carter took a lot of grief for admitting that he "committed adultery in [his] heart many times." Famous or not, though, when you read what Paul Newman said about his wife, well, you'll envy Joanne Woodward ...

Štill, being a good spouse can be a lifelong process, and this book offers a rating chart and do's-and-don'ts advice on how to stay married and in love. You'll also read directions on finding a millionaire and being a "total woman," and an 1880s ad for marital bliss through patent medicine.

Here, you'll find a postcard from a 1940s-era honeymoon suite, and an article filled with reasons to avoid starting a family. Learn what not to say on "The Newlywed Game," who "Midnight Train to Georgia" was written for, and how to propose at Yankee Stadium. You'll read about gay marriage, arranged marriage, TV marriages, and a grief-soaked letter from a wife whose marriage ended too soon. And you'll learn about divorce from the POV of a 1970's magazine, a 6th-century law, a wife auction (true!) and from Richard Burton.

Advice for the newlyweds? Everybody's got some, and that includes what's inside "The Marriage Book" but that's not all you'll find.

Infinitely browsable, sometimes shocking but always amusing, this huge collection of thoughts, warnings, and words of wisdom for the lovestruck is one of those things you'll want to pass around at the bridal shower, just for fun. Married authors Lisa Grunwald & Stephen Adler scoured online sources, magazines, and books for "treasures," some of which seem quaint, many of which are useful. What I like is the balance here; there's something for everyone, from romantic to realist.

Her something old came from Grandma. Her something new is a beautiful dress. Her something borrowed belongs to her beloved, so give the newlyweds 'The Marriage Book." This something blue will make them smile.

July 4 Concert Set For Park

Yankton Area Arts, with the support of the City of Yankton, will present Saving Vinyl City and Livin' Free in concert from 8-10 p.m. at Riverside Amphitheatre to kick-off the community July 4 celebration at Riverside Park.

Saving Vinyl City is a five-piece, all good looking, pop-funk band from Minneapolis featuring Yankton native Hunter Baugh. Every show is wild, fun, and energetic with heavy amounts of crowd par-ticipation. SVC plays original music but also likes to put their own spin on the songs they cover making every song and show they perform very unique. SVC strives to create music that will effect lives and generate real emotion.

Livin' Free is the house band at First Assembly in Yankton. Although they have primarily a rock flavor, they enjoy many genres of music. Music is universal and brings people together across different backgrounds and experiences. This high energy band loves the Yankton community and they're excited to light up the park on the Fourth of July.

This concert is a part of the free Tuesday Summer Concert Series sponsored by Yankton Area Arts and the City of Yankton in which

The Summer Of Heroes Flies On At Yankton Community Library

Yankton Community Library

Have you registered for the Yankton Community Library's summer reading program yet? If not, you still have time as our program runs throughout the month of July. Activities and reading plans are available for preschool children through adults. Every day is an adventure you won't want to miss! July highlights for preschool and elementary children are the following: story times weekly on Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays; toddler times every Tuesday; LEGO Club/ Robotics most Thursdays; Super Hero Training Camp; Puppeteer Lisa Laird with Pockets Full of Fun on July 6; a comic book writer and illustrator on July 15; and The Zooman on July 20. A swimming party at memorial Pool for all who read 1,000 minutes caps the summer activities. Check your calendars for event times. Keep reading throughout the month as you earn a book buck for every 100 minutes you log, earning up to forty book bucks. Our Superhero Storehouse opens on Monday, July 27, 9 a.m., and closes on Saturday, Aug. 1, 5 p.m. Be sure you redeem your book bucks during this week as you lose your opportunity to shop after Aug. 1, and there is no carry over to next summer with this year's book bucks.

What's still on tap for the teens? You are invited to participate in the Historic Cemetery Walk as well as all adult programs. Continue to read and complete your mission to scale the Empire State Building for prizes. Volunteer at the library and attend the comic book writer and illustrator sessions, make your own comic book, Minute to Win It games, and a movie. If you haven't registered, do so today and receive your calendar and all the information needed to Unmask the Super Reader in You! The Historic Cemetery Walk in partnership with the Dakota Territorial Museum and the Dakota Theatre is back by popular demand. On July 7, ticket holders will meet at the City cemetery to engage with re-enactors who tell the stories of some of Yankton's colorful citizens of the past. Please note that you will be "introduced" to all new people this year. Their lives differed greatly but they all added to our history. Tickets for tours, which start every fifteen minutes beginning at 6 p.m., can be purchased only at the library.

Join us at the library on Tuesday, July 21, 6 p.m. for out-of-the-ordinary cork crafts facilitated by our "crafty" librarians. There is a fee for this and the class is limited to 15, so register as soon as possible. If you have your own wine corks, please bring them for your

We end our summer activities on Tuesday, July 28, 6:30 p.m., with a salute to our World War II veterans. This program is facilitated by Dave Hosmer, who will give details on specific operations and highlight the service of the veterans who will be present that
