Democratic lawmakers opposed the measure, saying it would be better to increase basic state financial aid to help school districts with their operating budgets.

Daugaard said he supports regular increases in state financial aid to schools.

"But I also believe that the state can make additional, targeted investments in new ideas designed to promote student achievement. The state will continue to measure the success of our schools by the results they produce," the governor said.

Arsenault said the teachers union believes the plan takes away control by local school boards because it requires schools to use a teacher evaluation system based heavily on student test scores.

Wade Pogany, executive director of the Associated School Boards of South Dakota, said the organization is now working to explain to school boards what the law will require. The organization looks forward to taking part in advisory groups that will help establish details of some programs included in the measure, he said.

However, the organization has not decided whether it will support the effort to refer the measure to a public vote, Pogany said.

"We're in the very preliminary stages of trying to figure out what the law is about," Pogany said.

Weather

Meanwhile, no precipitation is forecast until next week.

Red flag warnings were issued Tuesday for south-central South Dakota and north-central Nebraska. The warning is issued for the combination of strong winds, low relative humidity and warm temperatures.

Area counties, including Charles Mix, much of Douglas County and southwest Bon Homme County in southeast South Dakota, and Knox County in northeast Nebraska, were in the extreme category.

Conditions have eased after several days of dry, windy weather conducive to fires.

Last Saturday, firefighters from nine northeast Nebraska departments responded to a large grass fire along Nebraska Highway 12 near Santee, Neb. The large firefighter response helped bring the fire under control. The blaze destroyed several area barns. Sunday evening's rainfall helped keep the fire under control.

Track

Sharon Petrik at 605-267-4130 or Pam Ganschow at 605-267-2607.

The fundraising effort is being made to build a new track at the Gayville-Volin school, which currently does not have such a facility.

"We run in the gym and around town right now, so it'll be very beneficial for learning hurdles and handoffs and relays," Brown said.

Along with providing a safe place for the school's athletes to train, the track will also serve as a classroom for physical education and will provide a safe place for community members to walk and run.

The track would also allow Gayville-Volin to host other teams, Brown said.

"We could host local, conference and district meets, maybe even up to the state level," she said.

Other fundraising events planned so far include a golf outing June 15 and a fun run July 28. For more information or to register for these events, contact friend-sofg@gmail.com.

Cash donations can be made at CorTrust Bank in Gayville, 400 Meckling Street, Gayville SD 57073. Make checks payable to: Gayville-Volin Track Benefit.

50 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, March 14, 1962
 • A few stalls at the 1962 Chamber of Commerce Home Show were furnished only with "SORRY" signs when the city hall exposition opened its doors to the public Tuesday afternoon. These spaces were to have been occupied by displays that simply didn't get here. Disappointed exhibitors ventured a guess that materials on order were snowbound someplace "between here and there," but they were hanging onto the hope that shipments still could arrive in time to finish out the three-day show. Some were putting displays up this forenoon. Most of the booths were "open for business" Tuesday afternoon, and an astonishing number of people waded through the drifts and fought the flying snow to get there for the first day's offerings. The evening crowd even outnumbered the afternoon's turn-out.

• All but three cars of a 24-car Milwaukee freight train carrying heating fuel for Avon and Lake Andes which was stuck in the heavy snow west of Napa Junction overnight Monday was brought into Yankton last Tuesday by a work train which had been dispatched from Mitchell early that day. Another work train with a crew from Sioux City, Ia., left here at 8 a.m. today to get the three remaining cars out of the snow bank and return them to Yankton.

25 YEARS AGO

Saturday, March 14, 1987
 • While most people are still lying snug in their beds, an 11-year-old Yankton girl is churning her way through 44-lap miles in a swimming suit dreaming of Olympic success. And on weekends, that same girl channels the hours of practice swim in that 20-yard pool into victory. It is for those two reasons, especially her success in competitions that the South Dakota Swim Committee made Susan Johnson its female co-Swimmer of the Year for 1986. The award, which Johnson shared with Rapid City's Lynne Braddock, was presented at last weekend's S.D. Junior Olympic State A Short Course Championships, held at Ellsworth Air Force Base.

• With over 600 campsites available free to visitors, the Lewis and Clark state recreation area could break its 1986 record during this year's Visitor Appreciation Weekend. The special three-day event, in which lake-area visitors will be admitted free to the state recreation parks and will be able to camp free of charge on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, is scheduled for May 15-17 this year.
