Phi Beta Kappa Initiation, Lecture At USD March 29

VERMILLION — Alpha Chapter of South Dakota, Phi Beta Kappa, is hosting a banquet and an initiation ceremony at the University of South Dakota on Thursday, March 29.

A banquet honoring all new members of Phi Beta Kappa begins at 5:15 p.m. in the Freedom Forum Room of the Neuharth Center, followed by the initiation of new members at 6:30 p.m. in the Law School courtroom. The initiation ceremony includes the presentation of the James M. Doyle Humanities Teaching Award by Emily Haddad, associate dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at 7:15 p.m. in the Beacom School of Business Auditorium.

Following the award presentation, Dr. James P. Collins, Virginia M. Ullman Professor of Natural History and the Environment in the School of Life Sciences at Arizona State University, will present the Phi Beta Kappa Lifto Amundson Lecture, "One Biology, One Science: A Vision for the 21st Century" in the Law School Court Room, to which the public is invited.

Collins has served both as director of the Population Biology and Physiological Ecology program at the National Science Foundation and as director of the Directorate for Biological Sciences at the National Science Foundation. A Bonchek Fellow at Franklin and Marshall College, Collins was awarded with ASU's College of Liberal Arts and Sciences Distinguished Faculty Award in 2003 and the Gary Krahenbuhl Difference Maker award in 2005.

The Lifto Amundson Lecture was established by Marjorie Lifto Amundson and her son, Dr. Loren Amundson of Sioux Falls. Mrs. Amundson was a member of USD's Alpha Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa and Dr. Amundson was also elected to membership in the chapter.

Midstates Conference Slated April 4

SOUTH SIOUX CITY, Neb. — The 11th annual Midstates Community and Economic Development Conference will be held Wednesday, April 4, running from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Marina Inn, Fourth and B Streets in South Sioux City, Neb. The focus of the one-day program is to offer successful strategies and innovative ideas to advance community and rural development in the three-state region. The conference is a joint partnership of agencies and organizations in Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota.

The afternoon program presenter David Landis will present "Partnerships Through Problem Solving Negotiation." Landis is the director of the Urban Development Department for Lincoln, Neb., a 28-year veteran of the Nebraska Legislature, an award winning teacher and a skilled negotiator in the public arena. His presentation will focus on the communication and negotiation skills needed to develop fair and powerful partnerships.

Additionally, attendees can choose from nine different sessions on successful community development efforts presented by local leaders who were "in the trenches." They will answer questions on what it takes for a successful local development project. Topics for these sessions include community development, entrepreneurship, housing, leadership, creativity, strategic partnerships, and implementing technology into community marketing.

Presentations will be made by representatives from the following communities:

- In Iowa: Denison, Hawarden, Lake View, Holstein, Sioux Center, Pocahontas and Sutherland.
- In Nebraska: Firth, Hartington, Wakefield and Wayne.
- In South Dakota: Centerville, Huron, Madison, Menno and Sioux Falls.

Communities are encouraged to bring three or more representatives to the conference so one person can be at each of the three sessions that will run concurrently. Over the years, average attendance for the conference has been around 200 local leaders from the region.

The planning committee for the Midstates conference is made up of Iowa State University (ISU) Extension and Outreach-Woodbury County; University of Nebraska Lincoln Extension-Cedar County; South Dakota Cooperative Extension Service; USDA Rural Development of Iowa, Nebraska, and South Dakota; Antelope County Resource Center, City of South Sioux City, Neb.; City of Sergeant Bluff, Iowa; City of Hawarden, Iowa; East River Electric Power Cooperative; Dakota Resources; Holt County, Neb., Economic Development Agency; P.A. Anderson Consulting LLC; Siouxland Community Foundation; SCORE; and Siouxland Interstate Metropolitan Planning Council (SIMPCO).

Financial sponsors of the conference include Avera Health, Central Bank, City of South Sioux City, Dakota Resources, East River Electric Power Cooperative, Elkhorn Valley Economic Development Council, Iowa Foundation for Microenterprise and Community Vitality, Iowa-Nebraska State Bank, Heidman Law Firm, LLP, Nebraska Public Power District, Northwest Iowa Power Cooperative, Plymouth County Economic Development, Security National Bank Trust, Siouxland Interstate Metropolitan Planning Council (SIMPCO), Sioux City Journal, Siouxland Community Foundation, Siouxland Economic Development Corporation, The Siouxland Initiative, South Dakota Community Foundation, and Wells' Dairy Inc.

For registration details and additional information, contact ISU Extension and Outreach-Woodbury County at (712) 276-2157 or visit www.extension.iastate.edu/woodbury.

FNBSD Bank Employees Volunteer In Communities

When it comes to giving back to the communities in which they live, First National Bank South Dakota employees are doing a tremendous job, according to Jeff Jones, Yankton Market President of First National Bank South Dakota.

"In 2011, our employees volunteered 1,725 hours of their time to help out local community organizations, events and groups. Overall, 69 percent of our employees volunteered to help out others in need," according to Jones.

In Yankton and surrounding communities, 50 different organizations, events or groups received volunteer help from First National Bank South Dakota employees. The areas which received the most volunteer hours included the American Red Cross, The Banquet, Yankton Area Chamber of Commerce, youth sports groups and flood relief efforts.

"As a business, we feel it is important to give back to the communities in which we live and work. First National Bank South Dakota not only supports our employees' volunteer efforts, we encourage employees by allowing them to take time off from work to volunteer, if needed," said Jones.

Organizations, events or groups that need volunteers are encouraged to let First National Bank South Dakota know of their needs by calling 605-665-9611 in Yankton or toll free at 800-262-9611. Although there is no guarantee of assistance, the need for help will be shared with employees.

First National Bank South Dakota is an affiliate of First National Nebraska Inc., the country's largest privately held holding company. With total assets of more than $400 million, First National Bank South Dakota is a full-service banking institution with branches in Huron, Mitchell, Woonsocket and Yankton. In addition to traditional lending and deposit products and services, First National Bank South Dakota offers a full line of insurance products, trust and estate planning services and investment planning. Information can be found at www.fnbsd.com.
