USD Track Teams Second In Summit League Outdoor Poll

VERMILLION — Both the South Dakota men's and women's track and field teams finished second in the Summit League Outdoor Track and Field Preseason Polls released by the league on Wednesday.

The men, who won the indoor league title this past weekend, received 14 points and two first-place votes while the women landed 32 points and a pair of first-place votes. Both teams were beaten by North Dakota State, which received 15 points and three first-place votes on the men's side and 35 points and five first-place votes on the women's side. South Dakota State finished third in the men's poll with 10 points, while Western Illinois' seven points and IUPUI's four points rounded out that poll. Omaha was third in the women's poll with 24 points, followed by South Dakota State's 23 points, Western Illinois' 16 points, Fort Wayne's 11 points and IUPUI's 6 points.

The South Dakota men return a league-high five champions from last year's league championships in Kyle McKelvey (shot put), Cody Snyder (discus), Peter Chapman (pole vault), Jeff Mettler (3,000-meter steeplechase) and Chris Nielsen (200-meters).

The Coyote women will be led by three returning league champions in Bethany Firsick, Megan Glisar and Meghan Dennis and national championship qualifier Emily Grove. Firsick and Grove finished first and seventh respectively in the pole vault at the 2013 NCAA Outdoor Track and Field Championships last June, while Glisar finished sixth in the high jump and Dennis finished 20th in the javelin at the same meet.

South Dakota will start the outdoor season at the Tulsa Open on March 21-22.
