D1 — FRIEND 44, HUMPHREY ST. FRAN-CIS 43: LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Taylor Menke scored 22 points, Anne Rohrig added 12 and Friend won its first state championship in girls basketball with a 44-43 victory over Humphrey St. Francis in the Class D1 final on Saturday.

Rohrig scored in the lane to give the Bulldogs (28-1) the lead early in the fourth quarter, and they were able to hold off the Flyers (25-3). Menke made a pair of free throws with 14 seconds left for a four-point lead, and St. Francis' Jacey Olmer ade a 3-pointer with 3 seconds left.

Christa Brockhaus had 16 points and nine rebounds for the Flyers, and Maggie McPhillips

Neither team led by more than four points. Friend made 6 of 11 free throws compared with 14 of 18 for St. Francis. The Bulldogs converted St. Francis' 20 turnovers into 13 points and outscored the Flyers 12-4 on second-chance bas-load for the Blue Devils (24-6) who hoisted the championship trophy for a fourth straight year.

"She started in all four of our state championship games, and I don't know if that's been done a lot," said head coach Steve Wieseler, whose program has appeared in five straight title games.

'That's quite the accomplishment. As was the case all season for Wynot, it wasn't easy. Sterling, making its first state tournament appearance since 2001, got to within 31-28 late in the third quarter despite constant pressure from the Blue Devils. Wynot reeled off 14 straight points, with eight consecutive coming from Schulte. And that was all the cushion the Blue Devils needed.

"We had people doubting us, because we were a young team; lost eight seniors last year," said Brittany Bruening, the only other senior for the Blue Devils.

"Getting out here and showing them how strong we actually were, and having all that support from the community, was amazing."

Of the four titles, this year's was perhaps the most challenging — given that the Blue Devils had to nearly rebuild a starting rotation around Schulte.

'We're a young team,' Heine said. "We've worked hard since the very first practice, and we always help each other out." The biggest adjustment?

"It took us about halfway through the season before we started making improvements," Wieseler said. What did not change, though, was Wynot reaching the state tournament in Lincoln and making another peat will come later, Wieseler said. "Someday we'll look back and say, 'Wow,' but when you're caught up in the moment, you take it one day at a deep run. Reflection of the 4-

"A lot of good things have to go your way for that to happen.'

Heine added eight points in the championship game victory, while sophomore Danielle Wieseler and freshman Cortney Arkfeld both had seven points.

In short, the program is set up well for the future.

Four year is awesome, but I know those other girls are determined next year," Bruening said. "I know they can do it again."

ketball Tournament finals. And yes, playing at the new facility has long been the goal for Crofton (27-1). "Every day in practice, it was always like, 'This is where we want to be March 8," freshman Monica Arens said. "At the beginning of the season, coach asked us where we wanted to be

March 8, and everybody said, 'Pinnacle.' 'We just kept working hard to get here." Once there, the Lady Warriors recovered from a backand-forth start to lead 33-19 at halftime and roll past the Hawkettes (22-4) in a rematch of last year's championship game. Crofton had previous won state titles from 2005-07, and now 2012-14. The four years the Lady Warriors did not win a championship under Losing, they finished third (2008, 2009), lost in the title game (2011) and missed the tournament (2010).

When the moment's at hand, though, the focus was on the game, according to head coach Aaron Losing. Maybe later Crofton can step back and relish in their streak, he added.

"A three-peat for this group, I'm sure they're happy about it, I'm just happy we won today," Losing said. "We boards. The Lady Warriors out-rebounded Hastings St. Cecilia 42-30, highlighted by a 19-3 edge on the offensive glass. Junior Quinn Wragge finished with 12 points and 12 rebounds, while junior Maria Wortmann added eight points and 10 rebounds.

The scary thing is, Crofton will likely be the Class C2 favorite again next season. Its two seniors — Amy Mueller and Alex Allen — combined to average 6.7 of the team's 69.2 points per game this season. The Lady Warriors will return four starters:

Allison Arens, Wragge, Sanger and Wortmann. "It just shows our depth," said junior Allison Arens, who had five points. "It shows that everyone worked hard over the summer and all
